TROOPS ORDERED TO TAKE CANTON WITHIN 14 DAYS

Kwangsi Forces Advance For Counter-Offensive

SHANGHAI, NOV. 4.
ACCORDING TO A CHINESE REPORT, 200,000 TROOPS FROM THE KWANGSI PROVINCE, WHERE THE PEOPLE ARE KNOWN FOR THEIR FIGHTING PROWESS, ARE ADVANCING EASTWARD IN ORDER TO RETAKE, FIRST, SHAMSHUI AND LATER CANTON.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, it is stated, has ordered that Canton must be retaken within two weeks, although foreign observers believe that this is hardly possible, as Japanese forces are fairly strong in that region.

The Chinese gained a significant victory near Nanlinchiao in the Sienning sector on Thursday, according to reports arriving here.

The Japanese had advanced from Sienning in two columns towards Tientsze-chiao, to the south-west and Paishachiao, to the south-east.

One group was attacked by the Chinese and heavy losses inflicted.

Japan To Abrogate 9-Power Agreement

TOKYO, Nov. 4.
IT IS UNDERSTOOD that the Japanese reply to the American note of October 27 will be delivered about November 10. It is believed, in well-informed circles, that it will refer to the "changed circumstances in East Asia."

These circles are of the opinion
"that so far as Japan is concerned the Nine-Power Pact is dead."

Newspapers are strong demanding its abrogation, and it is pointed out that Japan can withdraw from the pact any time without consulting the signatories.

Strong opinion is expressed in Japanese official circles, says a Domei agency report, that the open door and equal opportunity principle should be applied not only to Asia, but to the whole world.

It is believed that the Government will shortly issue a statement clarifying its attitude to the pact.

Meanwhile the press interprets
Prince Kono's broadcast yesterday as a warning to the Powers of a new Japanese Monroe Doctrine in China.
—Reuter.

In contradiction to these reports, the Japanese claim that the town of Puchi, 40 kilometres south-west of Sienning, and Tungshan, 40 kilometres west, have already been occupied.

On the South China front, the Chinese forces, according to Japanese reports, are retreating towards Oyuang, while the Japanese forces have advanced northward on the Canton-Hankow railway as far as 50 kilometres north of Canton.

The Japanese Minister has sent a further note to foreign diplomatic representatives, stating that with fighting moving further upriver, the Upper Yangtze as far as Shensi, as well as Chankai had become a zone of hostilities and that intensive fighting is expected in that zone. Foreign Powers are therefore requested to remove all neutral ships further up-stream and that full information should be given to the Japanese authorities regarding the exact position of foreign vessels.

In view of the fact that Japanese planes are now able to operate in any section of China, information is asked regarding vessels in the whole stretch of the river above a given point, irrespective of the distance.

TUNGSHAN FALLS

Nanking, Nov. 4.
Tungshan, an important stronghold along the gorges of the Fushui River, about 22 miles southeast of Sienning, was captured by the Japanese forces, which advanced westward along the Fushui River on Friday, a Japanese Army communique indicated at 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

Meanwhile, a dispatch from Sienning on the Hankow-Canton Railway says that Nanhsing, another strategic town about 10 miles southwest of Tungshan, was also taken by the Japanese forces at noon on Friday.

The dispatch says that about 2 divisions of Chinese troops including 20,000 men put up a desperate

Mass Air Terror Hits Into China's Far West

CHUNGKING, Nov. 5.
JAPANESE AIRCRAFT had extensive bombing and reconnaissance activities in the interior yesterday, according to reports gathered from various cities.

After a long respite, a squadron of more than 20 Japanese planes broke into east Szechwan, in the morning flying along the Yangtze River.
Whilst it has not been ascertained whether they dropped any bombs, it is certain that they conducted extensive reconnaissance.

Whilst they were flying over east
Szechwan, several other Japanese machines came over west Hupeh and raided Tungshih, below Ichang. They machine-gunned the town but did not drop any bombs. One of them circled over Ichang for a while.

Eighteen Japanese planes attacked Pingklung in Hunan in relays. They released more than 20 bombs and strafed the streets with machine-gun fire. Several bombs which landed at a bus station destroyed three buses. In addition, two shops were demolished. Casualties were, however, few, including a civilian killed and another wounded.

Another plane raided Chenglingki, about eight kilometres north of Japan To Make Big Increases In Taxation

TOKYO, Nov. 4.
A considerable increase in all Japanese taxes to cover the Japanese budget deficit resulting from the China war, is announced to-day by the Asahi Shimbun. The new taxes will become effective to cover the budget deficit for the 1939-40 fiscal year.

At the same time the taxation system is to be reorganized along social lines, so that tax-payers especially burdened by the war can be relieved by increased payments by war profiteers.

CHANGSHA WARNING BY JAPANESE

Foreign Nationals Are Asked To Evacuate

TOKYO, Nov. 5.
REITERATING THEIR INTENTION of avoiding untoward incidents involving third Powers, the Japanese Government, through their diplomatic agents in China, under the date of November 2, has made a fresh communication to foreign Governments in China, asking the latter to see that vessels of their respective nationalities withdraw from Changsha and Shensi, where heavy fighting is expected hereafter.

While Secretary Goto of the Japanese Embassy in China made the communication to foreign Ambassadors in China, the Japanese Consul-
General in Shanghai, Mr. Shinroku
Hidaka, also informed the foreign Consuls-General in Shanghai of the Japanese proposals.

The communication points out that following the fall of Hankow, the waterways of the Yangtze and its adjoining water routes leading to Shensi and Changsha are being involved in hostile actions.

Several fighting is expected in these regions, vessels of third

"Missing" Girl Won't Go Home

POLICE LAST NIGHT searched the Yaumati district for Marie Carmichael, 16-year-old daughter of Sergeant and Mrs.
Carmichael, of the Seaforth Highlanders. She has been missing from her home since Thursday night.

Meanwhile, the girl's mother is prostrate with worry, and is under medical attention.

The 16-year-old girl has been seen on several occasions in Nathan Road, it is reported.

Friends have urged her to return home, but without success.
The police description of the missing girl is as follows:

"Aged sixteen. Height, about 5ft.
5in. Fresh complexion. On Thursday night she was dressed in a blue and white dress and was wearing white rubber shoes. She would probably have a coloured handkerchief on her head."

The girl is tall and well-built, and could, it is stated, be mistaken for a girl some years older than 16 years.

It is now revealed that she has visited several friends in Kowloon since her "disappearance." To their suggestions that she should return home she has remained obdurate.
Miss Carmichael left her home at 55 Jubilee Buildings, Shamshui, on Thursday at 2.30 p.m. It is stated that she visited Mrs. E. Johnson, of Hankow Road, until 11 o'clock that

LATE NEWS

Shekhi - Macao Communications Interrupted

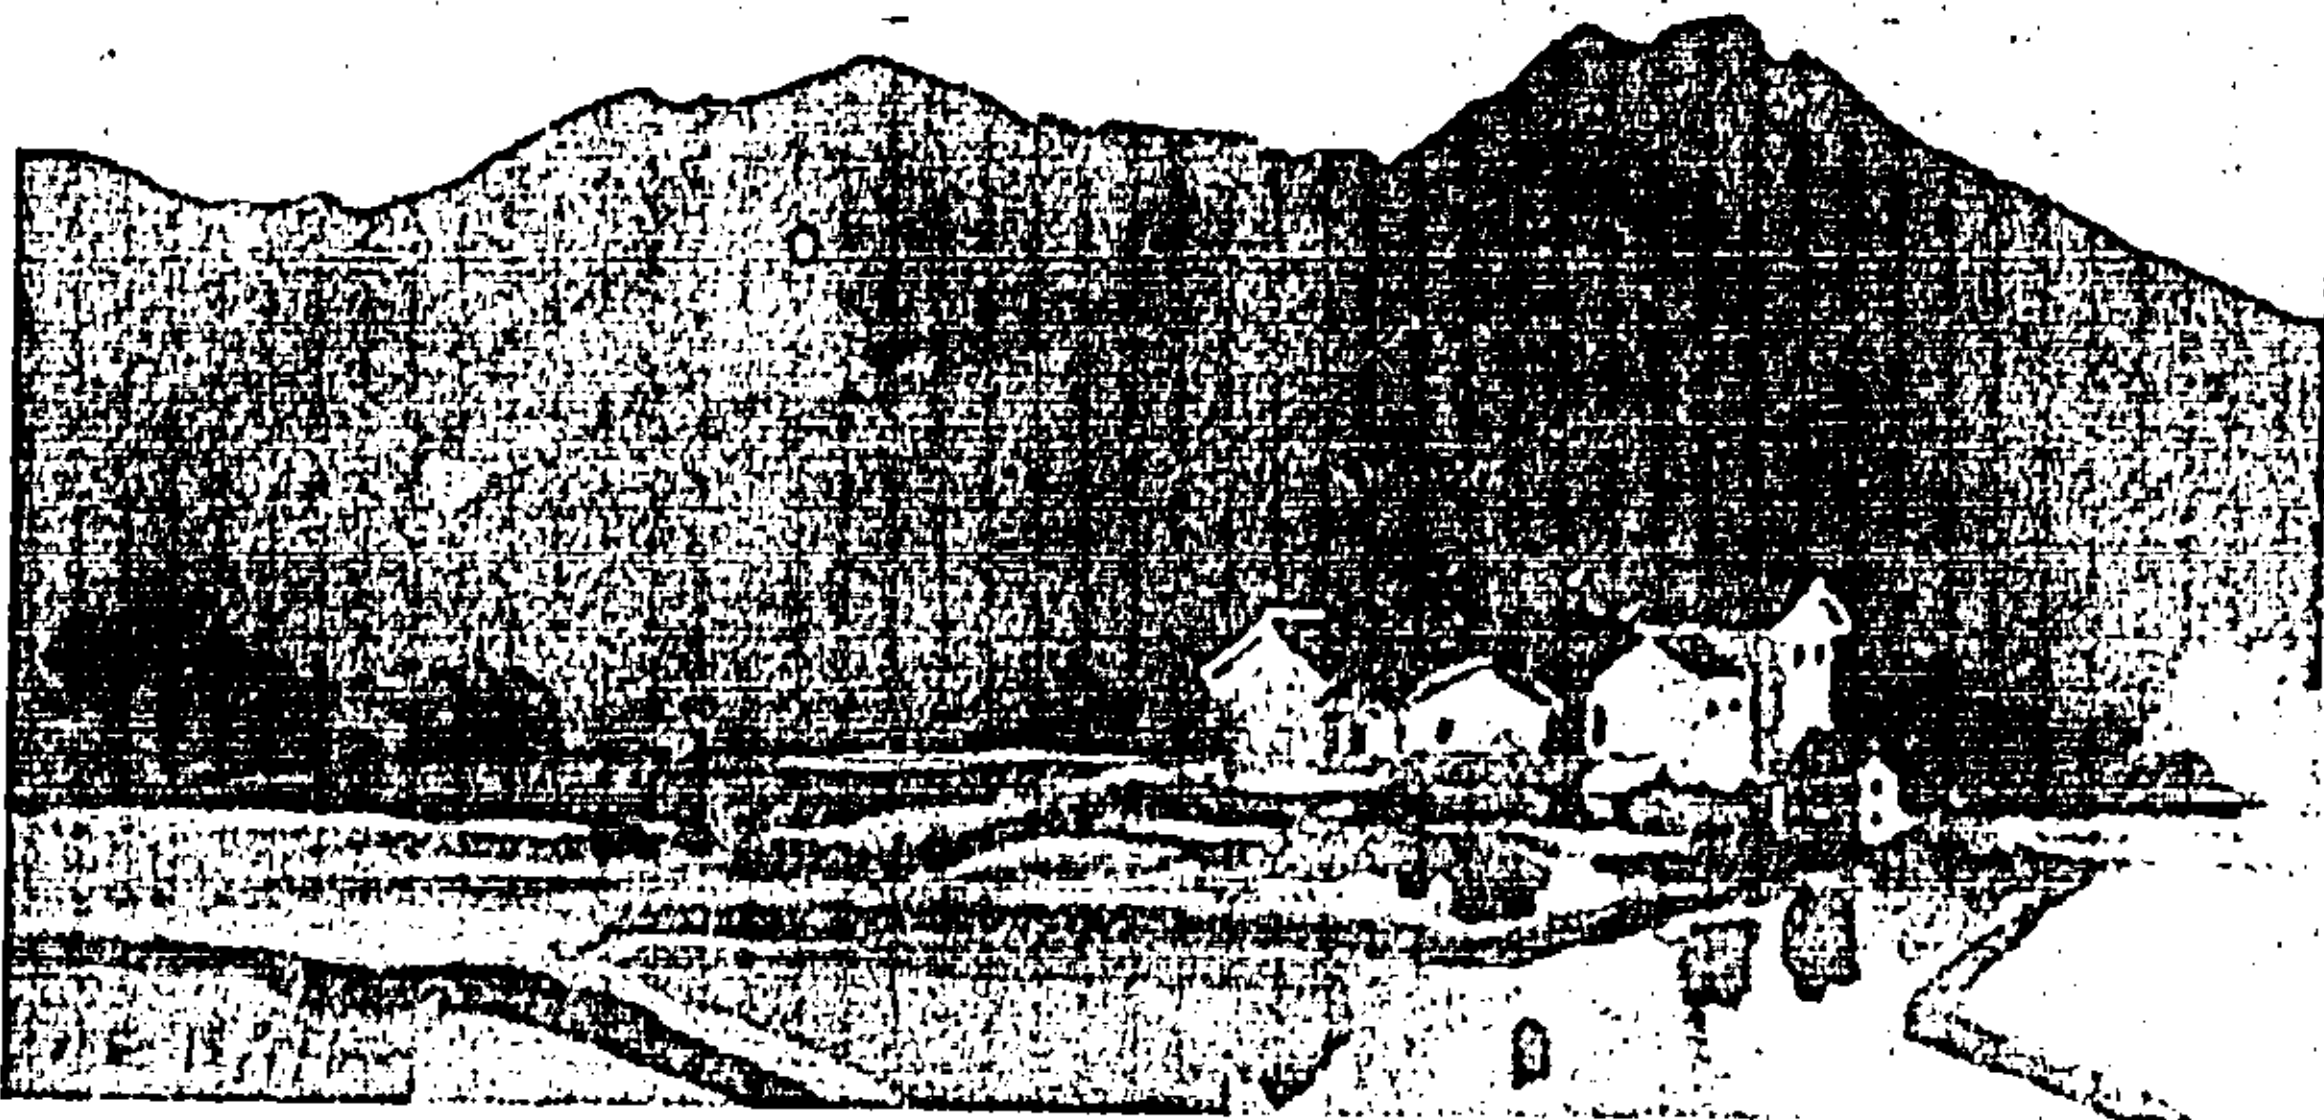

Macao, Nov. 4.
News has reached Macao this afternoon that communication between Shekhi and Canton has been interrupted as the result of fighting which has broken out in Talleung, a town situated about 25 miles south of Canton.

The rush for Macao continues to be much in evidence as the motor buses crammed with passengers and their scanty belongings arrive from Shekhi along the Kei Kwan highway.

No less than a thousand persons comprising men, women and children in small groups came through the Barrier Gate, which marks the boundary of Portuguese territory, early yesterday morning. They had made their way on foot and been served with congee at various points on their 30-mile trek from Shekhi to Macao.—Our Own Correspondent.

SIR LANDON RONALD'S ADVICE TO WIFE IN WILL

Sir Landon Ronald, composer of "Down in the Forest," formerly Principal of the Guildhall School of Music, and director of the Gramophone Company, left estate of £30,311.

In his will, published recently, he names three trustees, and says: "As I know my dear wife's generous heart and her ignorance of finance it is my wish that she should consult these trustees on all matters of business and finance and be guided by their advice."

He left £750 to his wife, and all royalties and performing rights of his musical compositions, £1,000 to his son Vernon.

His furniture and personal effects he left to his wife, desiring her but without creating any trust, to give mementoes to Sir John Pakeman, Sir Thomas Beecan, Sir Henry Wood, Sir Hugh Allen, Sir Louis Sterling, Sir Milson Rees and others. The residue is left to Lady Ronald for life.

CHARGE AGAINST "SQUATTERS"

"Organised Seizure of Private Property At Motherwell" SERIOUS OFFENCES

What was described as an organised seizure of private property at Craignieuk, Motherwell, had a sequel at Hamilton Sheriff Court, recently, when a number of men were charged with contravening the Trespass (Scotland) Act by lodging in houses at Lady Smith Street.

The Fiscal explained that the charges arose out of the seizure of houses in respect of which the Local Authority had issued a closing or demolition order. The Local Authority had removed the tenants of the houses to other accommodation in slum clearance schemes. The procedure in Motherwell was for the Local Authority immediately to render the vacated houses absolutely uninhabitable, but in this case an appeal was made by the owners of the property against the demolition order and, pending the decision, the property could not be interfered with.

The accused and their families then took the opportunity to take possession of the houses. They knew perfectly well they had no right to be there. They removed boards and barricades which had been erected at the houses to prevent persons entering. It was apparent that it was an organised seizure of the houses.

This was a type of offence which had been common at Hamilton, and it seemed to have now found its way into Motherwell.

The accused were liable to be sent to prison, without the option of a fine.

"INTOLERABLE" POSITION

Mr. Robinson, collector, Motherwell, for accused, said the offences arose from the housing shortage. Craignieuk was the worst ward in Motherwell and Wishaw from the point of view of overcrowding. All of the accused were married for an average period of five years, and yet not one had been able to get a house in the district. During their married life, in some cases, the husbands stayed at model lodging houses while the wives lived with relatives. The position was absolutely intolerable. The local authority was building houses, and it was hoped this would meet the situation.

The Fiscal said he would have no objection to a brief adjournment to allow time for accused to leave the houses.

Sheriff Walker said he took a serious view of the offences, but would delay imposing sentence.

BRISTOL CITY FINED £100

Following allegations of improper payment to amateur players, Bristol City Football Club were fined £100 recently by a joint commission of the F.A. and the Football League.

The manager of the club, Mr. R. Hewison, is suspended until May 6, 1939, from acting as secretary, manager, or secretary-manager for any club under the F.A. Four players who accepted money forfeit their amateur status.

Mr. George Jenkins, chairman of the club, said that he had called a special meeting of the directors, when the findings of the commission will be gone into.

There is considerable doubt regarding the position of Mr. Hewison. It is not known whether he is barred from acting in the capacity of, say, coach or scout for the club, and this will be one of the subjects dealt with at the meeting.

Another point is whether the four players who have been named as professionals will be re-signed on professional terms by the club. It is thought they may be engaged as part-time professionals.

Mr. Percy Coleman, the ex-director of Bristol City, who brought the charges against the club, said: "The very best of luck to Bristol City and sport generally. I hope things in future will go all right for them."

"I maintain that sport can be run according to the rules, and that sport must be run according to rules."

Ronald Colman Kept His Marriage A Secret, Said Nothing To His Sisters

Ronald Colman, the film actor, writes regularly to his two sisters in England, but his recent marriage to Miss Benita Hume was a "surprise packet" to them. He told them nothing about it.

A police judge performed the ceremony. There was no Hollywood display—just a few friends as witnesses. Miss Heather Thatcher, the English actress, Mr. William Hawks, his manager Colonel Tim McCoy, close friend and star of wild "Westerns."

The "confirmed bachelor" of screen romances, it was announced, has married Miss Hume, the London actress, quietly, at Santa Barbara, California. He is forty-seven, she is thirty-two.

NOT A HINT

Mrs. C. W. Vining, wife of a Leeds physician, one of Mr. Colman's sisters, said:

"Surely it is just another rumour? We've never had so much as a hint that he might be getting married."

"Ronald writes regularly, and there's been no mention of it. Perhaps he has been saving it as a surprise."

She said that another sister living near Hull knew nothing about it.

Colman was born at Richmond, Surrey, started work as an office boy, served in the war, and was wounded and invalided out.

His first part as an actor was that of a black-faced herald in a playlet by Tagore.

6 TRAPPED IN CHASM AS WATER RISES

SETTLE.

CAUGHT like rats in a trap, six young Yorkshiremen huddled together one night recently in a 200ft.-deep chasm on the mountainside near here watching flood water rising foot by foot at their feet.

The nightmare of all climbers had overtaken them—a storm had struck the mountain while they were underground, and flood water pouring down the chasm cut off their retreat.

When they arrived the day before on the slopes of Pen-y-ghent, one of Yorkshire's highest mountains, the sky was grey and threatening, but they lowered their rope ladder and made the descent safely.

For several hours they explored the labyrinth of caves that open out of the main chasm. Then they returned to the foot of their rope ladder to climb back to daylight.

As they approached, an unexpected roar made them uneasy. But no one spoke.

Then suddenly they were in sight of the waterfall.

CUT OFF Thousands of tons of water fell down the sheer wall of rock, flinging their slimy ladder about like a piece of cotton. At any moment it might give way, and in any case to try to climb it would be suicide.

Far above was the little circle of light that was safety—unattainable. Meanwhile the innkeeper who had seen them off, and relatives of the six men in Halifax and Bradford, grew anxious.

Police and expert climbers set out and after hours of searching found the marooned men's cars.

The searchers thought they must be dead. But they had climbed 60ft. up the slimy rock to a ledge, where they clung shivering. They had one sandwich between them.

They kept up their spirits singing until their voices gave way.

After they had waited 24 hours, the rescue party reached them. Double life lines were made fast, and after hours of difficult work they were brought up to safety—just in time, because in another hour the water, still rising, would have made rescue impossible.

The rescued men were Mr. Albert

Court Stops a Wedding

Mr. Paul Bennett, V.C., sitting at Lambeth police court recently, stopped an impending wedding.

The bride-to-be is Mrs. Ivy Joyce Ball (34), daily domestic, living in Abercrombie Road, Streatham, who was divorced last August and has one child.

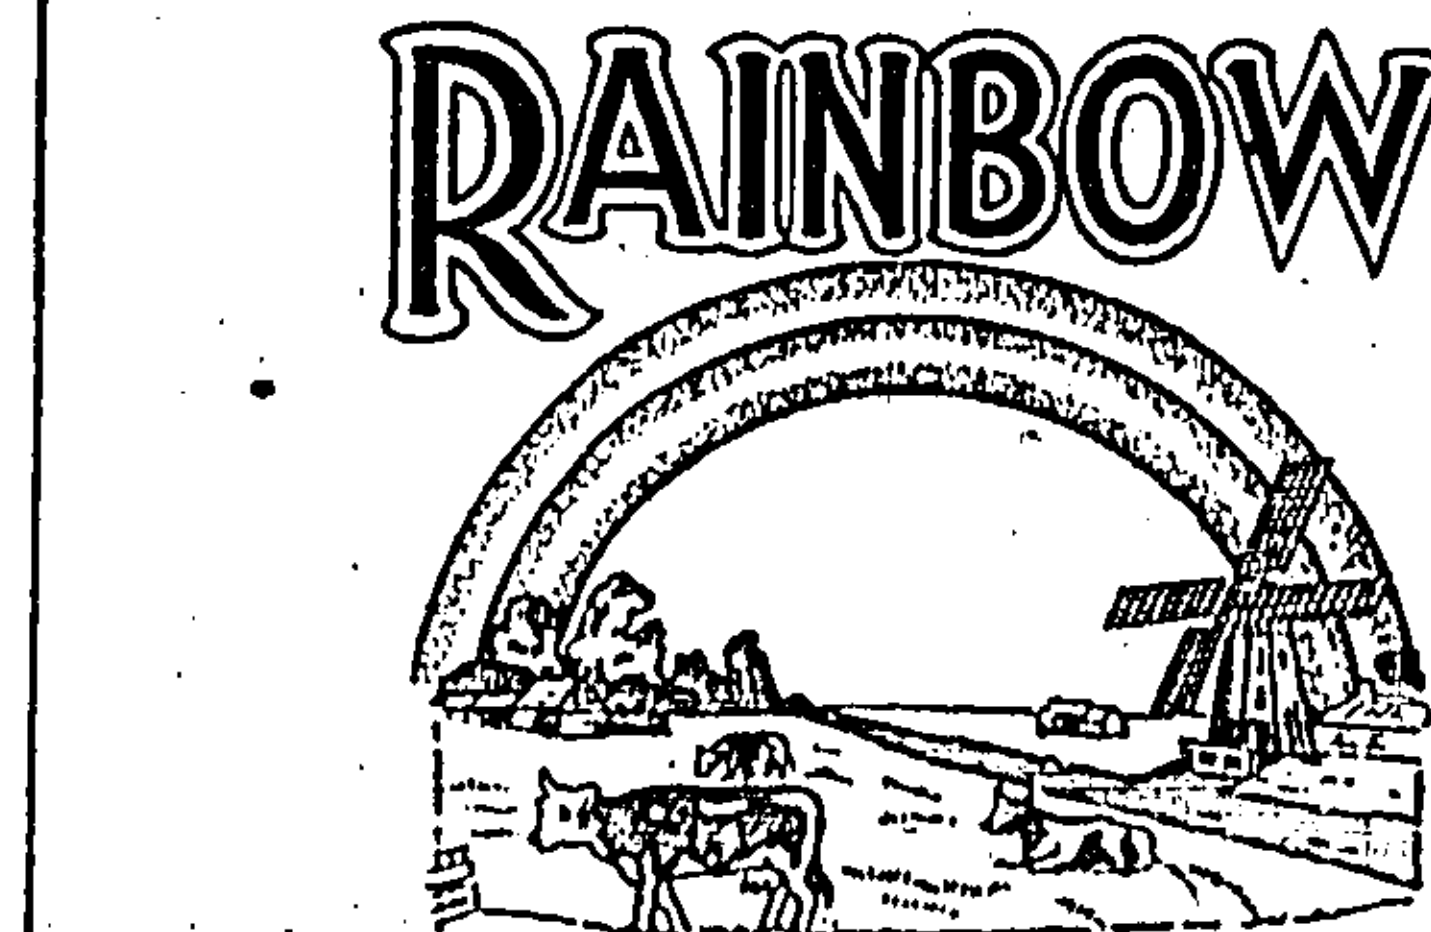

Mrs. Ball pleaded guilty to stealing £2 from Mrs. Rogers, Cricklade Avenue, Streatham, her employer.

The detective stated that on the way to the police station Mrs. Ball admitted that she had taken £2 10s. in all "because she was in a fix."

He added that Mrs. Ball was going to be married on the following Saturday.

Mr. Bennett: Not next Saturday. Accused is remanded in custody until Monday next and will be brought before me on that date.

Shops Hit By "Housey-Housey"

GROCERIES FOR LUCKY WIVES

Business was brisk recently at the Brixton Market "housey-housey" stalls, which recently were the subject of a petition of protest to Lambeth Borough Council from 120 shopkeepers.

Most of the players were women:

They were sitting around the tables in a covered hall. The place was in mild uproar because the game is essentially noisy. At one table 28 people were at play. Of these, 23 were women, all obviously housewives.

This is how the game is played.

Pay a penny and you receive a card and small pieces of white cardboard.

In the centre of the table is a wooden box divided into coloured and numbered holes.

"NINE RED"

Each player tosses balls into the box and an attendant loudly calls out the colour and the number of the hole into which the balls fall.

His three or four assistants about the information after him.

Your card has certain numbers in red, blue, green, white and yellow columns. You may have in your red column the numbers 6, 9, 11, 15 and 17.

If you hear "Nine red" called out you cover that number on your card with a piece of cardboard.

First player to cover any straight line of numbers on the card is the winner.

The reward is jam, tinned fruit, sugar, tea or cigarettes, or a voucher for goods.

Some women sat there for round after round.

A round takes rather less than five minutes at a penny a time.

With 28 playing, the receipts are 2s. 4d. The prize is worth about 1s. 6d.

WHITE GLOVES AT LAST FOR LORD MAYOR

White gloves were presented to the Lord Mayor at the Mansion House recently when it was found that there were no cases for the court to dispose of.

The Clerk, Mr. W. Thoday, said he believed that Sir Harry Teyford had sat on the bench in the City court more often than any other City Alderman, but had never before had this experience.

The Lord Mayor—I have been waiting for these gloves for 49 years, and I am glad they turned up at last. What Mr. Thoday says is quite true. In all my long career as a magistrate, I have never before attended either of the City courts and found a clean sheet.

"It is not the gloves that I am so pleased with as having no work to do."

"BIRDCAGE" JOKE

The Lord Mayor then noticed that the sword-bearer and the City Marshal were sitting opposite him and the council bench. "I think," he said, "we ought to have someone in the dock. What about Mr. Boston (the sword-bearer). Put him in the birdcage."

The sword-bearer and the City Marshal, laughing heartily, hastily withdrew.

WOMAN ENDS AIR MYSTERY

GENEVA

For twelve days, from aeroplanes and on foot, searchers have been looking for a German air liner which vanished on a flight from Frankfurt to Milan.

Airmen of three countries—Germany, Italy and Switzerland—joined in the search. Recently, a lone woman located the wreckage—on a glacier in the Swiss canton of Grisons.

Learning of the £100 reward offered by the German air company, she had begun her search.

Workers will begin to clear away the wreckage so that they can bring out the bodies of the ten passengers—four of whom are believed to have been Italian—and six Germans—and three members of the crew.

Frontier guards identified the markings of the plane.

Prize Baby's Father Jailed

Former recruit in the Metropolitan Police, John Archie Macdonald, twenty-nine-year-old Scot, fled to the Isle of Skye after taking part in an armed hold-up at Earl's Court, London, Underground Station and stealing £1,141.

Last month he went to prison without having seen his three months old son, who won first prize in a contest at Southend.

The baby's mother, who gave evidence under the name Jean Hamilton Smythe at the Old Bailey, said she heard Macdonald and his associates whispering in a room next to her bedroom after two London Transport Board men, carrying £1,141 in wages had been attacked and robbed.

Macdonald and Alexander Terris McCrae, twenty-five-year-old plumber's mate, were each sentenced to four years' penal servitude.

John Ferguson Cook, twenty-four-year-old baker, went to prison for two years, it being stated he played a minor part in the robbery.

Miss Smythe, in tears, said after the case: "I broke my heart to do it, but I had to send my lovely baby to a foster-mother at Southend. I can afford to see him only once a fortnight."

"When I told Mac in prison that John had won the baby contest he was terribly pleased. We decided then to call him by his father's name.

"SOMETHING WRONG"

"I knew that night when I lay in bed and heard the men going in and out of the house we lived in there was something wrong."

Macdonald said in evidence that he went to the Isle of Skye on May 25 because his father was dying. He said it was not true he had fallen in love with another woman.

Parts of a letter to Macdonald from this woman, a Mrs. Stevens, were read: "I have such a lot to say I don't know where to start, so I will begin with your old friend Jean. She has caused the most awful trouble, one way and another."

"She has split about that affair."

Macdonald said: "Mrs. Stevens was just a little passing fancy."

Detective-Inspector Rudkins said that Macdonald, a single man, was a recruit for the Metropolitan Police in January 1930 but was struck off in March 1930 as lacking capacity. He then joined the Scots Guards, and on return to civilian life had casual film work, and was for a time employed by London Passenger Transport Board.

During the last twelve months he had been associating with thieves and other undesirable people.

Her 100th Descendant

Ninety-two-year-old Mrs. Mary Blackney, of South Park-road, Wimbledon, is eagerly awaiting the news of the birth of her fifth great-grandchild. She has 38 great-grandchildren and 47 great-grandchildren.

The new baby will be Mrs. Blackney's 100th descendant, and it has been her ambition to complete the century.

"I have had three husbands and ten children," Mrs. Blackney said recently. "Hard work, good solid food, and plenty of sleep" is her recipe for long life. "Most young girls don't know what work is. Half of them can't even sew."

BOTHWELL RELIC

Mummified Body Not That Of Ill-Fated Earl

ANOTHER COFFIN FOUND

Research has proved that the mummified body in a glass-covered coffin, which for 80 years has been shown to tourists as the remains of the Earl of Bothwell, third husband of Mary Queen of Scots, is not that of Bothwell, but of an unknown man.

Danish National Museum investigators have found Bothwell's body in another coffin, buried beside the body of John Clarke, a Scotoman, who was imprisoned with him.

Bothwell died in 1578, insane and a prisoner, in the Castle of Draghobolm on the island of Seeland, now part of Copenhagen. He was buried in Faneveile Church, near the castle.

A coffin, indicated by tradition as his, was opened in 1858. From the remains was taken a portrait, now in the museum of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, and hitherto believed to be the only authentic picture of Bothwell.

BURIED ALIVE

Representations were made last November to the Danish Legation in London by Scottish antiquarians asking that the body believed to be that of Bothwell should be returned to Scotland.

A grim feature of the new discovery is that there are indications that Clarke was buried alive beside the dead Earl.

After the collapse of Bothwell's forces at Carberry Hill in 1567, he fled to the North, and thence to the Shetlands, where he assembled a fleet of pirates. He was chased to the North Sea and the remains of his fleet went to Norway.

Bothwell was arrested and sent to Denmark. He spent his remaining years in prison in Malmo, in Sweden, and in Draghobolm.

answers to these two questions, which the future alone can give, which I should most like to know."

ALSO BURIED within the Time Capsule is a list of the men who helped to prepare this "letter for 6939" and a message from Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, President of Oglethorpe University, Atlanta, where a similar legacy is being prepared for posterity.

The packing of the Capsule, finished recently at the laboratories of the Westinghouse Lamp Division at Bloomfield, N.J., was done under the guidance of the United States Bureau of Standards. The film was enclosed in special circular spun aluminium containers lined with rag ledger paper. The spools were wound on one-inch cores made of heavy laboratory glass tubing. Each article in the Capsule was wrapped separately, with a complete descriptive label, in 100 per cent special permanent rag paper, and carefully tied with linen twine. Documents included were written in permanent ink on special paper. The relative position of each object in the crypt was chosen according to the weight of the object: the heaviest items were packed at the bottom, the lightest at the top, so that nothing will be crushed by the weight of the centuries. The contents of the crypt are preserved in nitrogen, the inert gas that makes up four-fifths of the atmosphere. All oxygen, which produces rusting and deterioration of metals and materials, has been removed.

Official witnesses of the packing, were C. G. Weber, of the Bureau of Standards; F. D. McHugh, Managing Editor of the Scientific American, and Grover Whalen, President of the Fair. Their signatures, attesting the packing and signed in permanent ink on special paper, were packed last into the crypt, before it was sealed and inserted in the Capsule outer sheath of the Capsule.

Only two books, in the usual form, are included in the Capsule. These are the permanently-printed Book of Record of the Time Capsule, copies of which will be sent next week to libraries and museums throughout the world, and the Holy Bible.

STOCK MARKET REPORT

The Hongkong Stock Exchange weekly report issued at 3.15 p.m. yesterday, says:

It is apparent that the market is being affected by the nervous attitude of shareholders resident outside the Colony, and the slight weakness may be ascribed to a great extent by offerings from abroad. The amount of selling on purely local account is not heavy. Another feature, and which is possibly affecting local business, is that Manila has again attracted quite a lot of attention.

KING'S HOPES FOR PEACE IN ORIENT

international situation, touches on all aspects of Britain's relations overseas. The King spoke of his deep distress at the continuance and the recent intensification of violence and lawlessness in Palestine, and concern over the conditions prevailing in the West Indies.

PROUD OF HIS PEOPLE
A United Press message says that the speech included a reference to their Majesties' visit to Paris last July, "when nothing could more have demonstrated the strength of the bonds which so happily unite the two countries."

Referring to the mobilisation during the crisis, the King said he was "proud to observe the calmness and determination displayed by all my people."

In a reference to Spain, the King said that the Government had made an effort to make non-intervention effective, and he welcomed the Loyalist decision to repatriate foreigners, while he welcomed the decision of the Insurgents to "dispense with a proportion of those on the other side."

Referring to the Far East, the King said: "I regret that hostilities between China and Japan still continue with great loss of life to both sides, and with considerable damage to the rights and interests of third parties. I earnestly hope that the conflict will be brought to an early termination."

BLUE SKIES SPREADING
Rome, Nov. 4.
Addressing 90,000 ex-servicemen to-day, Signor Mussolini said: "After 20 years the victory secured by Fascism marks the beginning of real peace for everyone."
"In the European political sky, the blue patch tends to spread. Responsible men work towards this end."
He added that exaggerated and premature optimism would be injurious. "There are men who feel that they have received special defeat at the hands of the right-minded, truly pacific, European and humane policy of the axis. They dream with their eyes open of vague and impossible revenge. We must still sleep with our hands on our knapsacks,"—Reuter.

Polish-Reich Negotiations

Berlin, Nov. 4.
The Polish-German negotiations with regard to the expulsion of Poles from Germany continued to-day, and it is understood will be resumed to-morrow.

It is rumoured that a deadlock has been reached, the Poles maintaining that the checking of passports must be completed in order to remove falsified passports, while it is understood that the Germans maintain the standpoint that they do not want to be saddled with hundreds of nationless Jews.

It is stated in Polish circles that some 16,000 Polish Jews have unsatisfactory passes.—Reuter.

Arab Strike Continues

Jerusalem, Nov. 4.
The Arab general strike is continuing, but it shows signs of abatement, particularly in Haifa and Nabulus. Incidents to-day include dynamiting, bomb explosions, sniping and cutting telephone wires.
Troops continued intensive searches in various places.
It is revealed that important documents were seized by troops and police in the course of a search at Nabulus last night. One Arab was shot dead, and another wounded, while they were trying to escape over the roof-tops.—Reuter.

Recognition Report Was Premature

Chungking, Nov. 5.
Reports that Poland had recognized "Manchukuo" were denied by the Polish Foreign Office, it is learned from authoritative sources.
Whilst admitting that the Polish consulates in "Manchukuo" had to negotiate with the diplomatic authorities of the puppet state regarding matters affecting Polish residents and interests in "Manchukuo," the Polish Foreign Office declared that this does not imply Poland's recognition of "Manchukuo."—Central News.

LESSON SERMON

First Church of Christ,

ADAM AND FALLEN MAN

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches, to-morrow, November 6, will be "Adam and Fallen Man."

The Golden Text will be:—"He that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all." (John 3:31).

Among others the following citations will be read from the Bible:—"There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you." (Romans 8:1, 5, 6, 9).

The following citations will also be read from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—"There will be greater mental opposition to the spiritual, scientific meaning of the Scriptures than there has ever been since the Christian era began. The serpent, material sense, will bite the heel of the woman, will struggle to destroy the spiritual idea of Love; and the woman, this idea, will bruise the head of lust. The spiritual idea has given the understanding a foothold in Christian Science." (page 534).

New Laws To Aid French Recovery

Paris, Nov. 4.
Despite the delay caused by the resignation of M. Paul Marchandeau, the decree laws designed to restore the economic and financial position of the country will be issued in an official gazette before November 15, the date on which the Government's plenary powers expire, according to authoritative circles.

It is stated that M. Daladier will probably not request further plenary powers from Parliament.

A Cabinet meeting, followed by the Ministerial Council will be held next week to draw up the new programme of financial and economic recovery.

It is stressed that the new programme will follow liberal lines, measure of constraint being set aside, for at least the moment.

Humours of a further Cabinet shuffle are declared to be unfounded.—Reuter.

CHANGSHA WARNING
BY JAPANESE

Powers are requested to withdraw as far as possible above these points.

The positions and movements of third Power vessels on the Yangtze River above Hankow and its adjoining waterways shall, the Japanese note, be extended to the Japanese authorities as soon as possible through the official in charge of the matter in the Japanese Consulate-General in Shanghai.

While appreciating the co-operation shown by the Powers in the efforts of the Japanese authorities to prevent occurrence of unfortunate affairs, the note asks those Powers which have failed to communicate movements of vessels of their nationalities to make greater co-operation in view of the repeated Japanese representations hereafter.

In conclusion, the note points out that there are at present no waterways in any part of China against which Japanese aircraft are unable to extend their operations, the proposed communication is understood to affect the locations and movements of all vessels existing on the entire upper reaches of the said waterways irrespective of distance.—Domei.

"YANGTSE QUITE SAFE"

Hankow, Nov. 4.
"The Yangtze is quite safe and will be re-opened to foreign shipping when our military operations permit, but I cannot say exactly when that will be," said General Hata, Commander-in-Chief of the Japanese forces in Central China, when interviewed by foreign correspondents last night.

Asked if he was still planning to attack on Chungking as he had announced at Nanking, General Hata replied: "Yes, if necessary," but he would not venture an opinion as to its prospect.

"I am a military man, not a politician," was his answer to this, and General Hata said he did not know how long his headquarters would remain at Hankow.—Reuter.

STILL AWAITS REPLY

Shanghai, Nov. 4.
Great interest has been aroused by the statement of General Hata to foreign correspondents that the Yangtze would be closed to foreign shipping for an indefinite time, owing to military necessity and danger, and that the river would be open only to Japanese vessels.

At the same time the Chinese press reports that the Japanese shipping company has been formed in connection with the Japanese Ministry of Communications in order to mobilise shipping on the Yangtze.

The Japanese Embassy at Shanghai, however, stated that they were not informed about this project.

It is recalled that after the capture of Hankow, the British authorities demanded the opening of the Yangtze to foreign shipping, but they have received no definite reply.—Trans-Ocean.

WON'T ACCEPT JAPAN'S CLAIM

Washington, Nov. 4.
Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, made a comment at to-day's press conference which well-informed circles interpreted as meaning that the United States does not accept Japan's claim to a new position in the Far East.

Asked to comment on Japan's announced intention to link together Japan, China and Manchukuo, Mr. Hull said that America would be guided by the generally accepted principles of international law, and the principles of fair-dealing and fair-play among nations.

The attitude of the United States concerning Japan's claims in the Far East was based on the existing treaties which remained unchanged. The visit of Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to Washington, to the State Department has intensified rumours that consultations are proceeding between the signatories of the Nine Power Pact with a view to the adoption of a common attitude against Japan's efforts to close the open-door in China.

Mr. Cordell Hull himself, however, said that he thought Sir Ronald Lindsay's visit concerned the Anglo-American trade negotiations which, Mr. Hull added, were in the final stages, "whatever may be their outcome."—Reuter.

resistance in Nanlingkino, but were finally put to rout with heavy losses. Following occupation of Nanlingkino the Japanese troops, with the support of artillery, continued their advance to the south and west. Field advice says that Tsungyang, about 15 miles south of Puchi, is now gravely threatened before the Japanese onslaught.

A junction was effected in Nanlingkino between the Japanese forces advancing southward from Sienning and those marching westward along the Fushui River on Friday, front advances further indicate.—Domei.

SEVERE FIGHTING

Chungking, Nov. 5.
Severe fighting is in progress near Pushan on the Canton-Hankow railway and also in the vicinity of Siao-linze on the Hunan-Hupeh Railway, according to Chinese despatches received here.

Each of the two cities are reported as being threatened by a Japanese column advancing from Wuchang. At the same time a number of small Japanese gun boats are said to have penetrated to Tungting Lake.

The Japanese are also said to be attacking Chinese positions north of Yenching, north-east of Kiangshan on the Hankow-Ichang highway.

Some of China's best troops are reported to be engaged in defending this area, owing to the importance of holding the positions as long as possible to frustrate the Japanese advance to Ichang, where one foreign shippingman said he had sufficient goods lying in his warehouses to keep his ships busy for a whole year.

There was much aerial activity in this area yesterday, air alarms being sounded at Shui, Ichang and Wanchien, but there are no reports of bombing or damage yet available.

In the Kiangsu province the Japanese are stated to have attacked Haimen yesterday in an attempt to dislodge the guerrilla troops. Fighting is said to have continued all day before the guerrilla forces withdrew.

In South China the Chinese forces claimed to be counter-attacking at a severe raid by 28 enemy planes. No fewer than 60 missiles were rained indiscriminately over the city, causing over 20 casualties and wrecking some 30 houses.

A report from Yungyun states that Yintak, Linping and Yungyun, all in north Kiangtung, were again bombed yesterday. Over ten machines attacked Yintak and Linping in the morning, dropping many bombs. Three planes attacked Yungyun in the afternoon, concentrating their bombing in the outskirts. All villages around the town were reduced to ruins, while the town itself has been devastated after repeated Japanese air bombings.

Chihki in Anhwei was raided for the first time on Thursday by two Japanese naval planes. The raiders dropped six bombs and machine-gunned the streets. Several civilian casualties resulted.—Central News.

WAR COSTS CRIPPLING

The requirements by the different Departments of the Government as presented to the Finance Ministry total 4,500,000,000 yen consisting of 2,000,000,000 yen of ordinary expenses and 2,500,000,000 yen of new expenses.

The authorities of the Finance Ministry have already finished the first assessment and the final results of the appraisal will be submitted for deliberation to the Cabinet Council by the end of this month.—Domei.

BELGIAN KING TO VISIT NETHERLANDS

The Hague, Nov. 4.

The King of the Belgians will officially visit Queen Wilhelmina from November 21 to November 23. He will be accompanied by the Belgian Foreign Minister, Dr. Spaak. The King will meet Dutch Cabinet Ministers, but it is thought here that the visit has no political significance.—Reuter.

ROYAL COUPLE RETURNING

Nairobi, Nov. 4.

The Duke of Gloucester, on the conclusion of his visit to Kenya with the Duchess, sent a message to-day to the Governor stating that, as a result of the holiday the Duchess's health had been completely restored. The message added that both had enjoyed the visit immensely, and they warmly appreciated the hospitality shown.

The Duke and Duchess are leaving Uganda by air for England to-day.—Reuter.

Dummy Steals
The Show At Local Theatres

British cinema-goers will never cease to marvel at the inconsistencies of Hollywood.

Super-super productions, costing millions of dollars and containing thousands of feet of rubbish, are ballyhooed with all the skill and expense of American quick-fire methods.

Then little, inexpensive films, about which not a word is said by way of advance publicity, steal all the box-office profits.

"Letter of Introduction," now at the Queen's and Alhambra, is one of the latter class of films. Like the famous "Thin Man," which created all-time box-office records, it was produced as one of the hundreds of films necessary to fill in theatre programmes between the super productions.

There hasn't yet been a super-production to beat it. There hasn't yet been a human star, to beat Charlie McCarthy, the almost human dummy whose voice is supplied by Edgar Bergen.

And, rivaling Charlie, is a newcomer to the screen—a rival dummy from the comic book.

You'll enjoy this excellent film, first-class entertainment for young and old alike.—N.

DOIHARA'S PLAN FOR N. CHINA

Peiping, Nov. 4.

General Doihara, Chief Japanese Political Officer in North China, has returned from Tokyo, and it is reported in Chinese circles close to the Japanese authorities that the plan he has drawn up for the formation of a Federal Government of China, with the capital at Peiping, was approved by Tokyo on October 17.—Reuter.

NEW AIR CHIEF

Vice-Marshal Babington Coming to Hongkong

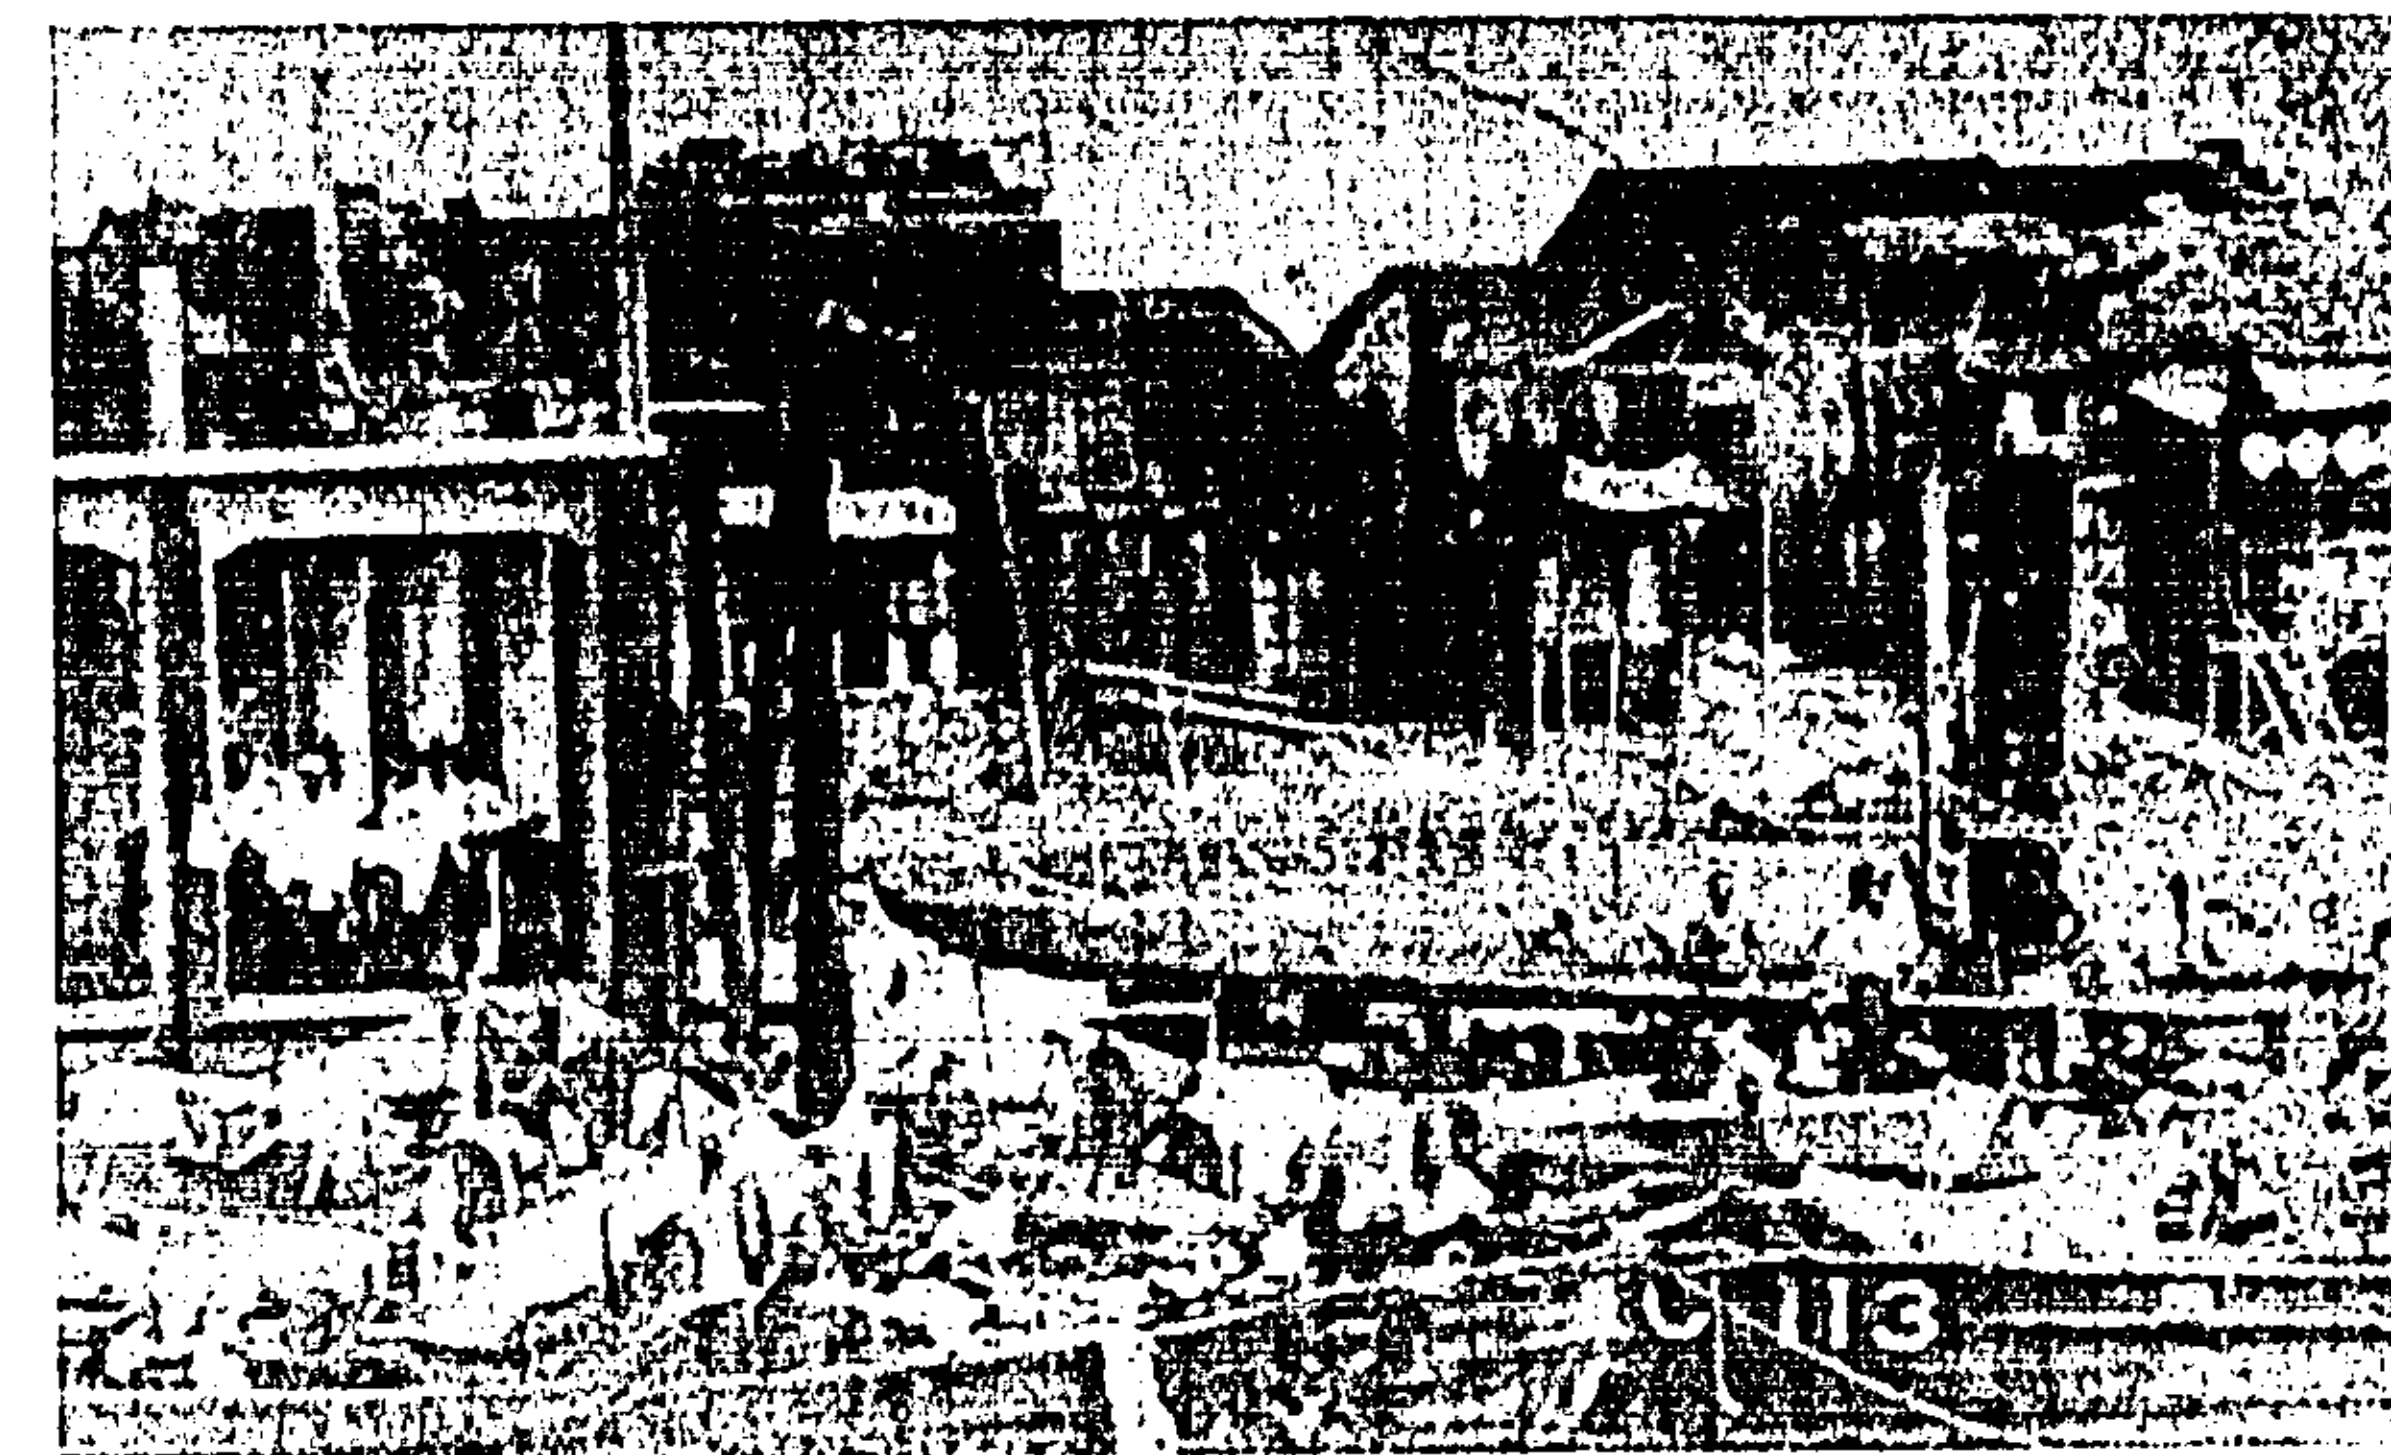

Air Vice-Marshal J. T. Babington, C.M.C., D.S.O., attended by Mr. R. M. Longmore, R.A.F., will arrive in the Colony on the new P. and O. liner Canton on Thursday next and will stay at Government House. During the evening, His Excellency the Governor and Lady Northcote will give an official dinner to the Air Vice-Marshal.

Air Vice-Marshal Babington succeeds Air Vice-Marshal A. W. Tedder as Air Officer Commanding, R.A.F. Far East. Air Vice-Marshal Tedder was recently appointed Director-General of Research and Development at the Air Ministry.

THE EAST SURREYS

Despite the rumours circulated from Shanghai during last week-end, the East Surreys are adhering to their original programme of going to Shanghai.

At present stationed in Nicholson's Camp, Happy Valley, the Surreys are awaiting convenient transport to the northern port.

THIS REMARKABLE PHOTOGRAPH is believed to be the first ever taken of a Japanese landing party in action. It was taken from the deck of H.M.S. Robin with the aid of a telephoto lens, and shows Japanese disembarking at Samshul from commandeered sampans. As the photograph was taken, Japanese planes were roaring overhead, covering the Japanese landing with a bomb barrage.—Copyright reserved by A. T. Hull, Jr.

CABARET DANCE

C.B.A. Function Held At Peninsula Hotel

The Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel presented a gay scene last night, when the Central British Association held their first Cabaret-Supper Dance this season.

Miss Peggy Eccleshall, partnered by George Arnold, opened the delightful programme with a Ball Room Tango. After repeated requests for an encore the talented couple gave 11-bits from the Modern Waltz, Carloc, Shag, Old Fashioned Waltz, Dix Apple, and the Lambeth Walk.

A humorous monologue by Miss Anne Organ followed, and then Miss Joyce Nash rendered several haunting Hawaiian melodies on her guitar, accompanied by Maestro Caplo. Miss Nash is a newcomer, but judging from her reception, Hongkong will be hearing more of her before the season is over.

Miss Peggy Scotcher concluded the programme with a delightful Scarf Dance arranged by George Goncharoff.

SALE OF WORK

Mrs. D. Wylie opened a sale of work organised by the ladies of the Union Church, Kennedy Road, yesterday. Among the many articles displayed were needlework tablecloths and luncheon sets, guest towels, novel trays of embroidery covered with glass, knitted garments, including baby frocks and booties, home-made sweets and jams, wooden toys, and a lavender stall.

H.M.S. Falmouth is due between 8.30 and 8.45 p.m.

His Excellency's landing will be informal.

DEAN OFFICIATES

Vancouver Couple Wed At Peak Church

The Dean of St. John's Cathedral, the Very Rev. J. L. Wilson, officiated at the wedding of Mr. Malcolm Leuchars Hobson and Miss Marjorie Mavis Hobson, at the Peak Church yesterday.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. S. Hobson of Vancouver, British Columbia, arrived at the Church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given away in marriage. She wore a smart eggshell suit, having a short coat embroidered in self colour, with a rust toned hat and accessories, and a fox fur cape. She also wore a corsage of African daisies.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hardie, of Vancouver, British Columbia. He was attended by Mr. Draney, as best man.

The bride's mother was present in a grey ensemble with violet hat and accessories.

Later a reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hosple, on The Peak. The honeymoon is being spent at Repulse Bay.

INVEST

IN A NEW WESTON
the quality meter at a lower price

Whether you run a "16", a "9.5" or an "8", your running costs are pretty considerable. Too much, in fact, to waste even a few frames through faulty exposure caused by an out-of-date meter. Invest in a New Weston—Model 850. Incorporated in it is the well-known "Photronic" Photo-electric cell (an exclusive Weston feature) which will last for all time and retain its remarkable sensitivity even although exposed to strong sunlight. You'll like, too, the small and compact design of this New Weston, as well as its amazingly simple method of exposure readings. It can be used for any camera and any film.

Army To Have 1,000 More Sergeant-Majors And New Reserve Class

About 1,000 non-commissioned officers, the War Office announce, were promoted on October 1 to form the first batch of selections for a new class of troop-sergeant-majors, section sergeant-majors, and platoon sergeant-majors, to be known as Warrant Officers Class III.

It has also been decided to form a new section of the Army Reserve, to be called Section E, to provide a source of warrant officers and non-commissioned officers "to fill responsible positions on mobilisation, which would otherwise have to be filled from serving personnel."

Section E will be open only to pensionier warrant and non-commissioned officers aged fifty and under. Each man will be allotted a specific mobilisation post.

Terms of service will be enlistment and re-engagement for one year at a time. Pay will be 9d. a day. When called out they will not count their additional service towards increase of pension, but will continue to draw their pensions concurrently with their pay.

Man Had Bullet in His Back For 23 Years

DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT

A bullet lodged in a man's back for 23 years, was only discovered when he was X-rayed before undergoing an operation for an internal complaint, says a message from Sydney.

Arthur Coombs, of Toombul, took part in the landing at Gallipoli during the war. It was then that he received the bullet.

"On the morning of the landing," he said, "when I was falling to take cover, something struck me. I thought I had been hit in the stomach, but later felt blood near my left shoulder blade and thought I must have been only grazed by the bullet. Later in the morning I was hit on the foot and put out of action. The doctors paid little attention to the scratch on my back, and the only ill effect I felt was a paralysed left arm for a few days."

After about a month in hospital, Mr. Coombs went back into action and fought through the rest of the war.

ARMISTICE MEMORIES RECALLED

Memories of the Armistice were recalled in dramatic fashion at the French garrison town of Belfort, recently, when Corporal Bugler Sellers, who sounded the "Cease fire" for the armies in 1918, sounded a special call on the same bugle for the return to peace. He was taking part in an imposing ceremony, at which several important military personages were present, says Central News from Paris. During the ceremony the company in which he serves stood at attention.

Sellers was one of the Reservists called up for service recently.

LOVER ACQUITTED OF MURDER TOLD "WE MUST PART"

William Whiting, aged 38, was at the Old Bailey recently acquitted of the murder of Mrs. Phyllis May Spiers, whose body was found in a coppice at Folkestone with a green scarf round the neck.

The prosecution suggested that Whiting was angry with Spiers because she had caused Mrs. Rose Woodbridge, with whom, he said, he was in love, to leave him.

Although one of the first to congratulate Whiting on his acquittal, Mrs. Woodbridge refused a reconciliation.

"I still love Rose, and I am anxious for her to come back to me," he said, but Mrs. Woodbridge, who overheard the remark, broke in: "It's no use; you know I will never come back."

Whiting invited her to join him as he left the building, but she refused. "I don't want to see him any more," she told me. Whiting then left with friends.

The trial will go down in legal history as one in which it was the prosecution that indirectly proved the accused man's innocence.

Ten witnesses called by Whiting were found by the police during their inquiries.

These witnesses were turned over to the defence, and their evidence was that they had seen the woman alive after May 23, the day on which the prosecution suggested she was murdered.

Mr. Justice Wrottesley, summing up, said what was most strongly relied on by the defence was the evidence of these witnesses.

64 WITNESSES

After being in Whiting's company on May 23 Mrs. Spiers disappeared, but the jury must remember that she had no settled home. She was a bird of passage—here to-day and gone to-morrow.

The Crown said it was a case of people making a mistake, as people did when asked to recall when they last saw a person they did not know very well, but if the jury thought only one of these witnesses was not making a mistake, and that the girl was seen alive after May 23, they had no choice but to find Whiting not guilty.

The jury, which included three women, considered their verdict for two hours 23 minutes.

Sixty-four witnesses were brought from Folkestone for four days, the cost of their train fares and fees, running into hundreds of pounds,

AUSTRALIA STANDS BY BRITAIN

Canberra. The Australian Cabinet recently gave long consideration to the international situation, following a telephone conversation between Mr. J. A. Lyons, the Prime Minister, and Mr. S. M. Bruce, Australian High Commissioner in London.

The Cabinet decided to support Great Britain to the fullest degree in any action that may be deemed internationally necessary.

Mr. Lyons, in a statement at the conclusion of the Cabinet meeting, said that although the position had not improved, the Commonwealth was still hopeful that reason would prevail.

He had advised Great Britain that Australia was in the completest accord with the policy as outlined by Mr. Chamberlain and reaffirmed by Sir John Simon at Lanark.

THE "TELEGRAPH" has the privilege to-day of being the first newspaper in the world to publish photographs of the Great Fire of Canton. In these days of high-speed communications the achievement of receiving and publishing photographs of a happening less than a hundred miles away more than a week after they were taken does not seem, at first sight, remarkable. Nevertheless, with the exception of Japanese photographs of troops entering Canton (already published exclusively in this newspaper), these are the first photographs to reach the outside world from Canton and the only photographs of the fire. In order to bring them to Hongkong, Camera-man A. T. Hull journeyed through two provinces and a French Colony by land and from Port Bayard to Hongkong by sea. Three-quarters of his journey were made under extraordinary difficulties, the route traversed being continually machine-gunned and bombed by Japanese planes.

His triumph is all the more creditable when it is remembered that other international news-reel men are still impotently awaiting opportunity to leave Canton, two having to return to the stricken city after their lives had been virtually endangered in efforts to reach Hongkong by more direct routes than the one taken by Mr. Hull.

Please to Remember

WHEN FIREWORKS are banging and popping in English back-gardens to-night, and 'guys,' made from old clothes and a grotesque mask, are being consigned to the flames, there are few people nowadays who give more than a passing thought to the Gunpowder Plot that was the cause of it all.

When Guy Fawkes was found in the cellars of the Houses of Parliament that night in 1605, ready to blow up the King and the House of Lords, there was, as may be expected, a great outcry against the Jesuits, who were accused of engineering the plot. To-day, however, historians argue among themselves as to whether there really was

Taoism—Doctrine Of The Way Of Virtue

BY
T. PAUL
GREGORY

A Letter To Be Read in 6940 A.D.

One of the most remarkable and interesting religious faiths of the Far East is that of Taoism—the "Doctrine of the Way of Virtue"—founded in the sixth century B. C. by the great Chinese philosopher and sage, Lao Tzu. Not even Confucianism, the professed faith of Chinese officialdom, and Buddhism, the creed of the majority of Eastern Asia's teeming millions, have exerted a greater influence upon Oriental modes of thought; for after all, Taoism represents the very essence of those negativistic ideas, which seem so characteristic of the Asiatic mind, and which at the same time are so perplexing and generally incomprehensible to Occidental people.

In short, the fundamental teaching of Taoism is that "all obstacles to human life and happiness may be overcome by absolute passive resistance," and it is just this doctrine which has been so successfully put into practice by Mahatma Gandhi in his extensive Civil Disobedience Campaigns in India.

TAOIST PHILOSOPHY

The basic principle of the Taoist philosophy has, moreover, been thoroughly incorporated into the minds of those who profess the other two of China's great religions, that the people can well say indeed that "disregarding inevitable external differences the three religions are one." In fact, in practice the average Chinese does not find anything incompatible with professing all three faiths. He may be a good Confucianist, a devout Buddhist and a contemplative Taoist at one and the same time; for as the people naively state: "Confucianism appeals to the intellectual side of a man's nature, and Taoism to his spiritual longings, and Buddhism to his need of metaphysical practice and occult protection." This pragmatic point of view is rather difficult for the Westerner to appreciate in its entirety, but it nevertheless, the Oriental attitude in general, and illustrates the ability of the people to assimilate totally dissimilar religions and accept them into something purely Chinese.

Like other great religious faiths, Taoism is imbued with the spirit of its founder, Lao Tzu who it will be remembered, was a contemporary of Confucius. According to the most authentic accounts, he was employed by a ruler of the ancient state of Chou to act as official historian and archivist, and while engaged in this duty for this purpose became interested in philosophical speculation. He therefore penned an immortal work of about 5,000 Chinese characters, entitled the Tao-te-Ching ("Book of the Way of Virtue"), which expounds the doctrine that "man may be rendered immortal through the contemplation of the Eternal, the repression of the passions, and the perfect tranquillity of the soul."

This act of attaining immortality is called hsien-tan, a phrase literally signifying "soothing cinnabar," but which has been employed by Lao Tzu to indicate the "refining of the human spirit by meditation." However, as it has often proved to be the case in history, man is not satisfied with the simple statement of a text, but proceeds to gloss it over in an attitude of observation, and this is just what has occurred in the case of the work of Lao Tzu. The word tan, "cinnabar," has been taken in its literal sense, and there has consequently arisen a singular cult of the mystic which like the Alchemists of medieval Europe has attempted to find a means of solving all human problems.

ETERNAL LIFE

Unlike their European counterparts who were principally occupied with the task of finding a method of transmuting the base metals into gold, the Chinese Taoist adepts sought the formula for obtaining immortality. Cinnabar became to the latter, the compound of the most divine attributes, and during the long a genuine gunpowder plot, or whether it was part of the schemes of Robert Cecil, Earl of Salisbury, to discredit the Jesuits. The only fact about which anyone can speak with certainty is that the unlucky Fawkes himself was merely a cat's paw.

Last night, Hongkong radio listeners heard from Daventry A. P. Newton, a frequent broadcaster on "World Affairs," speak about the real Guy Fawkes. Professor Newton is now attached to the Public Record Office, where two remarkable documents in the case are preserved. They are depositions from the trial of Fawkes, bearing his signature before and after torture—mute but eloquent evidence of the brutality of that age.

ages countless attempts must have been made to find a solution to the enigma which would make this prosopopoeia of mercury capable of bestowing eternal life upon mortal men. These researches while they did not secure the secret of immortality, were yet invaluable in enriching the science of Chinese medicine; for the healing art in China is largely empirical, and the Taoists were among the most skilled in all its principles.

Taoism, moreover, through its peculiar emphasis upon the occult has become a doctrine more imbued with mysticism than even the Hebrew cabala. A secret science has been developed, and the Tao-te-Ching of Lao Tzu, has been made, in the belief of the Taoists, a repository of the almost limit of human knowledge. In fact, every character and every sentence of the inspired volume, contains, according to these adepts, a figurative as well as a direct sense. Words may be so interpreted that they convey the most fantastic meanings, and may be taken to explain every phase of human existence and the relation of man with all things supernatural. Consequently, on account of this reverential attitude towards the work of the original Master, Taoism, as it is known to-day, is a doctrine in which superstitious beliefs of the most incredible absurdity march hand in hand with teachings of the highest moral precepts.

RELIGIOUS FAKIR

Taoism has become the peculiar province of the religious fakir, who exploits to his own ends the credulity of the masses of the people. Taoism, even more than Buddhism, emphasises the power of the magic spell and most of the sorcerers are professed adherents of one of the many Taoist sects; for Taoism like its sister faith is divided into different schools, each of which claims to follow more closely the original teachings of Lao Tzu. Externally, too, there various sects possess a striking resemblance in organisation to that of Mahayana Buddhism; for there is even a Taoist "Buddha." This individual has his official residence at Lung-fu-shan or "Dragon and Tiger Mountain" in the province of Kiangsi. He is, moreover, reputed to be a lineal descendant of one Chang Tao-ling, a mystic of alleged transcendental power, who lived in the first century of the Christian era, and who it is stated first developed the simple doctrines of Lao Tzu into a veritable arena of mysteries. He is also credited with the development of exorcism into a sort of pseudo-science, accompanied by a host of strange incantatory formulae, which like the mystic chant of the witch doctor instil into the hearer a sense of the presence of some supernatural power.

Taoism as it exists to-day presents an element of superstition which obscures the lofty teachings of the founder. These, however, when investigated in their original source, the Tao-te-Ching will be found to be fully compatible with reason and of the utmost excellence in guiding mankind into the paths of moral rectitude.

Note.—For further information upon Taoism in Chinese popular practice, see the writer's article on "Magic Charms Among the Chinese" in the Hongkong Telegraph of Saturday, October 29, 1938.

Into four reels of Micro-Film are compressed more than ten million words and a thousand pictures; three new reels prepared by RKO-Pathé Pictures, Inc., show the highlights of 1938's news.

Within the limitations imposed by space, it has been the desire of the Westinghouse Electric Company to touch upon the principal categories of our modern life in all its variety and vigour. To this end, historians, teachers, editors, archaeologists, engineers, scientists, artists, critics and commentators have offered advice and suggestions. Out of the thousands of proposals submitted, the Committee have chosen what they consider truly representative of our era.

Archaeologists have been consulted to make certain that the things included in the Time Capsule will truly fulfil the task required of them. Items such as cosmetics, the woman's hat, and bits of jewelry have been selected with the aid of special committees of women. In professional and industrial fields we have had the consent of similar authoritative committees. In the instances where several brands of items, equally good, were suggested but only one could be used, the one selected was chosen simply by lot.

THE ITEMS finally chosen for the Capsule fall into four general categories.

First come the objects in common use. About thirty-five in number, these are separately classified and described. They include, in addition to the can opener, hat and Bible, a toothbrush, safety-pin, pipe, children's shoes, a camera, cigarettes, fountain pen and pencil, and similar items; wrapped in 100 per cent rag paper with their identification tied with linen thread and packed within the nitrogen-filled inner Pyrex glass tube.

The next division comprises about fifty small samples of textiles, seeds and common materials. It offers bits of wool, silk, cotton and rayon, as well as plastics, eal, asbestos, cement, metals, alloys, rubber and the like. Seeds are sealed in airtight glass tubes, with the hope that they, as the grains of wheat found in the Pyramids are reputed to do, will blossom again five thousand years hence.

The third section, the newsreel, is devoted to characteristic scenes of modern times. Produced by special methods on permanent acetate film by RKO-Pathé, this fifteen-minute newsreel depicts President Roosevelt speaking at Gettysburg, on the 75th anniversary of the famous battle of the Civil War; Howard Hughes, aviator, returning from his record three-day, 19-hour trip around the world; Jesse Owen, negro athlete, winning the 100-meter dash in the 1936 Olympics; a collegiate football game between Harvard and Yale; a big league baseball game—the 1938 All-Star game at Cincinnati, Ohio. It also shows the United States fleet "engaging" in war games; the Soviet celebration of May Day in Red Square, Moscow; United States sham war manoeuvres; the bombing of Canton by Japanese airmen; a fashion show in New York; and a preview of the World's Fair.

The core of the "cross-section of civilization," however, lies in the three-and-a-half reels of microfilm, actually an "essay" covering in detail the major achievements and knowledge of to-day. Reproduced in miniature, it may be easily read with a small microscope included in the Capsule, or on projection machines, instructions for building of which precede each reel.

This 1,100-foot "nutshell of knowledge" is a liberal education in itself. A man reading the material represented—if he kept at his task eight hours a day, five days a week—would require more than a year to finish it, and at least a decade to assimilate all the information stored away on the transparent strips.

THE MICRO-FILM comprises the equivalent of more than 100 cases volumes of nine print and includes more than 1,000 pictures, complete books, such as "Gone with the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell, "Arrowsmith" by Sinclair Lewis, and "Freud, Goethe and Wagner" by Thomas Mann have been carefully microphotographed in their entirety. The Encyclopedia Britannica has contributed some of its most significant sections. The World Almanac and a Sears, Roebuck catalogue have been "shot" from cover to cover. Art is represented by reproductions of modern paintings by Picasso, Mondrian, Dan and Wood, as well as the Urozo Frescoes. Music is represented by the scores of Sibelius' "Finlandia," Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "The Flat Foot Boogie" by Gaillard, Stewart and Green.

The summary of the sciences and industries takes up more than half of the microfilm, with complete scenes, descriptions and information upon transportation, communication, chemistry, metallurgy, physics, astronomy, geology, electricity and medicine. Religion and philosophy, as well as education, have separate sections. Customs, habits and manner of living are described in detail, as well as radio, theatre, motion pictures and other entertainments.

More than two score popular magazines and all of New York's leading newspapers, cartoons and Sunday "funny-papers," railway and airway timetables, were filmed for posterity.

MESSAGES from Albert Einstein, Thomas Mann, Robert A. Millikan and Karl T. Compton to the people of A.D. 6939 were included. The message from Dr. Compton, President of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, follows:

"The last 100 years is notable for the accelerated development of science and its useful applications. The electrical constituents of matter, the structure of atoms and the nature of radiation have been outstanding discoveries in physical science. There appears to be a beginning of the control of biological processes including the development of new species. Telephone, telegraph, automobile, radio and widespread use of electric power are technical developments of great significance.

"Two interesting questions are frequently discussed: (1) Will there be in the future a slowing up of this scientific development? (2) Will the use of science to increase man's power and control of nature be used to the great ultimate detriment of mankind? It is the (Continued on Page 3.)

Are You Quite Certain

This week's problems are not too easy nor yet too hard, with a 40 total representing good shooting.

Now on your mark—get set—go... taking two marks for every correct answer, and blushing with shame if your total doesn't reach 30, which is zero mark.

1.—Perhaps you've never had to use a thermostat, but you ought to know it's an instrument for:

Finding the latitude; determining wind direction; measuring altitude; regulating the temperature; keeping tea warm.

2.—Whenever you come across the word tantamount you take it in your stride, knowing that it only means:—

As you were; the very highest; the bottom one; in good condition; equivalent; never again.

3.—By running the rule round a tennis court you can easily find out that its maximum measurements are (if it's a full-size court):—

100ft X 50ft; 50ft X 25ft; 75ft X 30ft; 78ft X 36ft; 60ft X 45ft.

4.—As a rule the number of matches in those little match books some tobaccoists give away with cigarettes is:—

12; 15; 18; 20; 25; 30; 60.

5.—The largest liner ever launched in England was the:—

Queen Mary; Mauretania; Queen Elizabeth; Titanic; Great Eastern.

6.—When you drink coffee you also swallow some:—

Cocaine; tannin; nicotine; caffeine; alcohol; opium.

7.—The librettist in the famous Gilbert and Sullivan combination was:—

Gilbert; Sullivan.

8.—Come right out, into the open like a man and pronounce the word quay. It is:—

Kwi; kay; kway; kee; kwee; wharf.

You Know?

9.—No one should have to admit that—he or she—doesn't know that Iceland belongs to:—

Norway; Sweden; Germany; Britain; Denmark; Russia; Poland.

10.—How's your palette today? Well, the primary colours are:—

Red, white and blue; red, black and yellow; red, yellow and blue; red, black and green; green, red and yellow.

11.—The statement "Action and reaction are equal and opposite" is called the:—

Theory of Relativity; Darwin Theory; Einstein Theory; Third Law of Motion; Law of the Jungle.

12.—The answer to a simple addition sum is called the:—

Quotient; sum; divisor; dividend; adder; python.

13.—One of the most misquoted quotations in English literature is:—

To-morrow to fresh fields and pastures new; To-morrow to new fields and pastures fresh; To-morrow to fresh woods and pastures new; To-morrow to new wood, and fresh fields.

14.—Sir John Simon is one of the big men in world affairs, his job being:—

Foreign Secretary; Ambassador Extraordinary; Minister for War; Ambassador to Berlin; Chancellor of the Exchequer; Minister for Munitions.

15.—Herr Hitler, Europe's man of the moment, was born in:—

Norway; Hungary; Germany; Austria; Czechoslovakia; Yugoslavia; Jerusalem.

16.—The last king to be buried at Westminster Abbey was:—

Henry VI; George II; Henry VIII; William IV; Charles I; George V.

17.—Shooting an eagle at golf means beating bogey by:—

A stroke; two strokes; three strokes; four strokes; no-k.

18.—To go to England's oldest colony you'd have to take a trip to:—

New Guinea; Samoa; South Africa; Canada; Newfoundland; Nova Scotia; New Zealand.

19.—The "pale" in the phrase "beyond the pale" refers to:—

A district in Ireland; Reserved part of the Colosseum at Rome; Fashionable quarter of London; Ascot Royal Enclosure; what milk-maids use.

20.—The lines at right angles to the arms of the Nazi swastika point:—

Clockwise; counter-clockwise.

21.—The Chamberlain family—Joseph, Austin and Neville—have a pretty bright history in British politics. The Prime Ministership was held by:—

All of them; one of them.

22.—Switzerland has a national flag and a very neat little piece of hunting it is, too. The design on it is:—

An eagle; a lion; a blue cross; a white cross; a red cross; a harp; an alp.

23.—Only one of these modern authors is still alive:—

Rudyard Kipling; Thomas Hardy; Arnold Bennett; Sir J. M. Barrie; G. K. Chesterton; John Galsworthy; A. P. Herbert.

24.—Surely you've heard of Saviarola, the famous:—

Court jester; liar; lover; soldier; sailor; preacher; political intriguer.

25.—Composer Johann Strauss wrote some lovely music, but perhaps he is most popularly known as the writer of:—

The Merry Widow; The Maid of the Mountains; Pinaflore; The Chocolate Soldier; The Blue Danube; Balalaika.

Third Time Unlucky

"THAT" said Joshua Playfair, replacing his receiver, "was the postmaster of Huckworth Parva." Dumbell was writing up a report. "I beg your pardon, sir," he said. "I didn't quite catch that. The toastmaster of Huckworth-Parva?"

Inspector Playfair Episode 85 charming adventuress supposes. Let me tell you her history."

He took out a file of papers from a folder in his desk.

"Four years ago, a certain Mrs. Fellheart settled at a village called Uglanes, in Berkshire. She entertained lavishly, was popular with the neighbours. She had valuable jewellery, heavily insured. One day, to her profound astonishment, she received a letter—an anonymous letter—warning her that a 'dangerous gang' was operating in the neighbourhood."

"She took it to the police. The superintendent advised her to deposit the jewellery with her bank, but, before she could do so, the 'dangerous gang' materialised. Mrs. Fellheart, alone in the house, was—according to her story—overpowered by two 'masked strangers'. They tied her to a chair, flung a sack over her head, and decamped with the jewellery."

"A curious episode, Dumbell. For the jewellery was never recovered and the 'masked strangers' were never seen again."

"And the insurance company?" asked Dumbell.

"Couched up forty thousand pounds. Which was shared—I suspect—between Mrs. Fellheart, alias Mrs. Blayde-Barrow, and the admirably trained maid-servant, a certain Elinor Jones, who, presumably, tied her mistress up before taking her own afternoon off."

"I get you," said Dumbell. "A frame-up. But nothing that anyone could prove."

"Quite so," said Playfair. "A frame-up. Let me resume my story. Two years later, a Mrs. Duplessis appeared in another part of the country. She, too, had valuable jewellery—insured, of course, with quite a different company from that which Mrs. Fellheart had patronised. But the circumstances of the earlier affair were almost exactly repeated. There was once again the anonymous letter, the conscientious appeal to the police, the assault on poor Mrs. Duplessis when she was all alone in the house. This time, if I remember rightly, she was found, gagged, in her bedroom. And, as before, there was no trace of the marauders who had gone off with her jewellery. She received, from her insurance people, something over sixty thousand."

"And do you mean," asked Dumbell, "that Mrs. Fellheart and Mrs. Duplessis were one and the same person?"

"I am sure that they were one and the same person, but it was devilish difficult to prove, Dumbell. A woman who wants to change her appearance can do quite a lot in two years. But when I saw how similar in detail the two occurrences were, I had taken—and I filed for reference—Mrs. Duplessis's finger-prints."

"And I got into touch with various insurance concerns and asked them to keep me informed of heavy country insurances on jewellery. In this way, three months ago, I learned about Mrs. Blayde-Barrow. She stands to gain this time about £90,000—what do you say to that?"

Next, through the agency of our friend the postmaster, I got copies of her finger-prints. She is, without question, the same person as Mrs. Duplessis."

"And so now you expect—" began Dumbell. But at this point the phone bell rang. "It's as I expected," reported Playfair, "listen-in on the extension, Dumbell. The Lonsbury police."

"That Inspector Playfair?" said a voice. "Superintendent Goswell speaking. You've already heard from Humby about the letter to Mrs. Blayde-Barrow; it was posted in London on Tuesday. My congratulations on that, Inspector. As soon as Mrs. B.-B. came along with that letter I arranged to have her house watched. No one entered or left it after her return until, about three, the maid, Jones, emerged and went off along an unfrequented lane towards Lonsbury. Sergeant Drew then entered the house, and, treading very softly, went up to Mrs. B.-B.'s room; here he found her jewel boxes rifled—the jewellery, I don't doubt, was deposited elsewhere some days ago—and Mrs. B.-B. tied up on her bed, and, unfortunately for her self, blindfolded. Drew is a bit of a wag—a leading light at amateur theatricals—and, as he knows the maid Jones fairly well, he could not resist bringing off a coup. Imitating the maid's voice, he said: 'Something's gone wrong, madam; the police are watching the house.'

"What," shrieked Mrs. B.-B., the police already! Then quick; untie me at once, Elinor; we haven't a minute to lose.' The rest, of course, was simple, both Blayde-Barrow and the maid are now in custody."

"I wish I'd been there," said Playfair, obviously much amused. "Nice work, Goswell, any way. By the way, there were no prints on that anonymous letter? No?—I thought there wouldn't be. Run up and see me to-morrow, will you and we'll go into all the evidence."

I wonder where Blayde-Barrow has dumped her jewellery?"

What past had been played by the postmaster, Humby, in unmasking the conspiracy?

Youthful CHARM

Hair styles of today make careful washing a necessity. Ordinary soaps should be avoided. The free alkali they contain soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it under the frequent shampoos necessary to keep the hair beautiful.

Discriminating women everywhere use Mulsified because its pure, natural and greaseless oils keep the scalp well nourished. Mulsified leaves the hair soft and easy to manage—preserves the natural wave and colour—makes it sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

Two or three spoonfuls gives an abundance of rich, creamy lather—cleanses thoroughly—completely removes dirt and dandruff.

That happy 'Ovaltine' smile

Isn't he a sturdy little fellow? His mother writes:

"John won two first prizes last year and now he has just won another first prize, a silver cup, so he has two silver cups to his credit. The doctors who judged the competition remarked on his excellent teeth and general good health. John has had 'Ovaltine' and 'Ovaltine' Rusks since an early age."

'Ovaltine' is the perfect food beverage for children. It supplies all the vital food elements—proteins for healthy muscles and flesh, calcium for strong bones and teeth, nerve-building phosphorus and carbohydrates to give energy and vigour.

And how children love the delicious flavour of 'Ovaltine'. Even those who dislike milk drink it eagerly when 'Ovaltine' is added. 'Ovaltine' also has the very great advantage of making the milk to which it is added completely digestible and much more nourishing.

Give your children 'Ovaltine' every day—and note the difference!

BRIDGE PROBLEM

No. 83

This Week's Problem

Spades are trumps. South leads, and North-South have to win eight of the ten tricks.

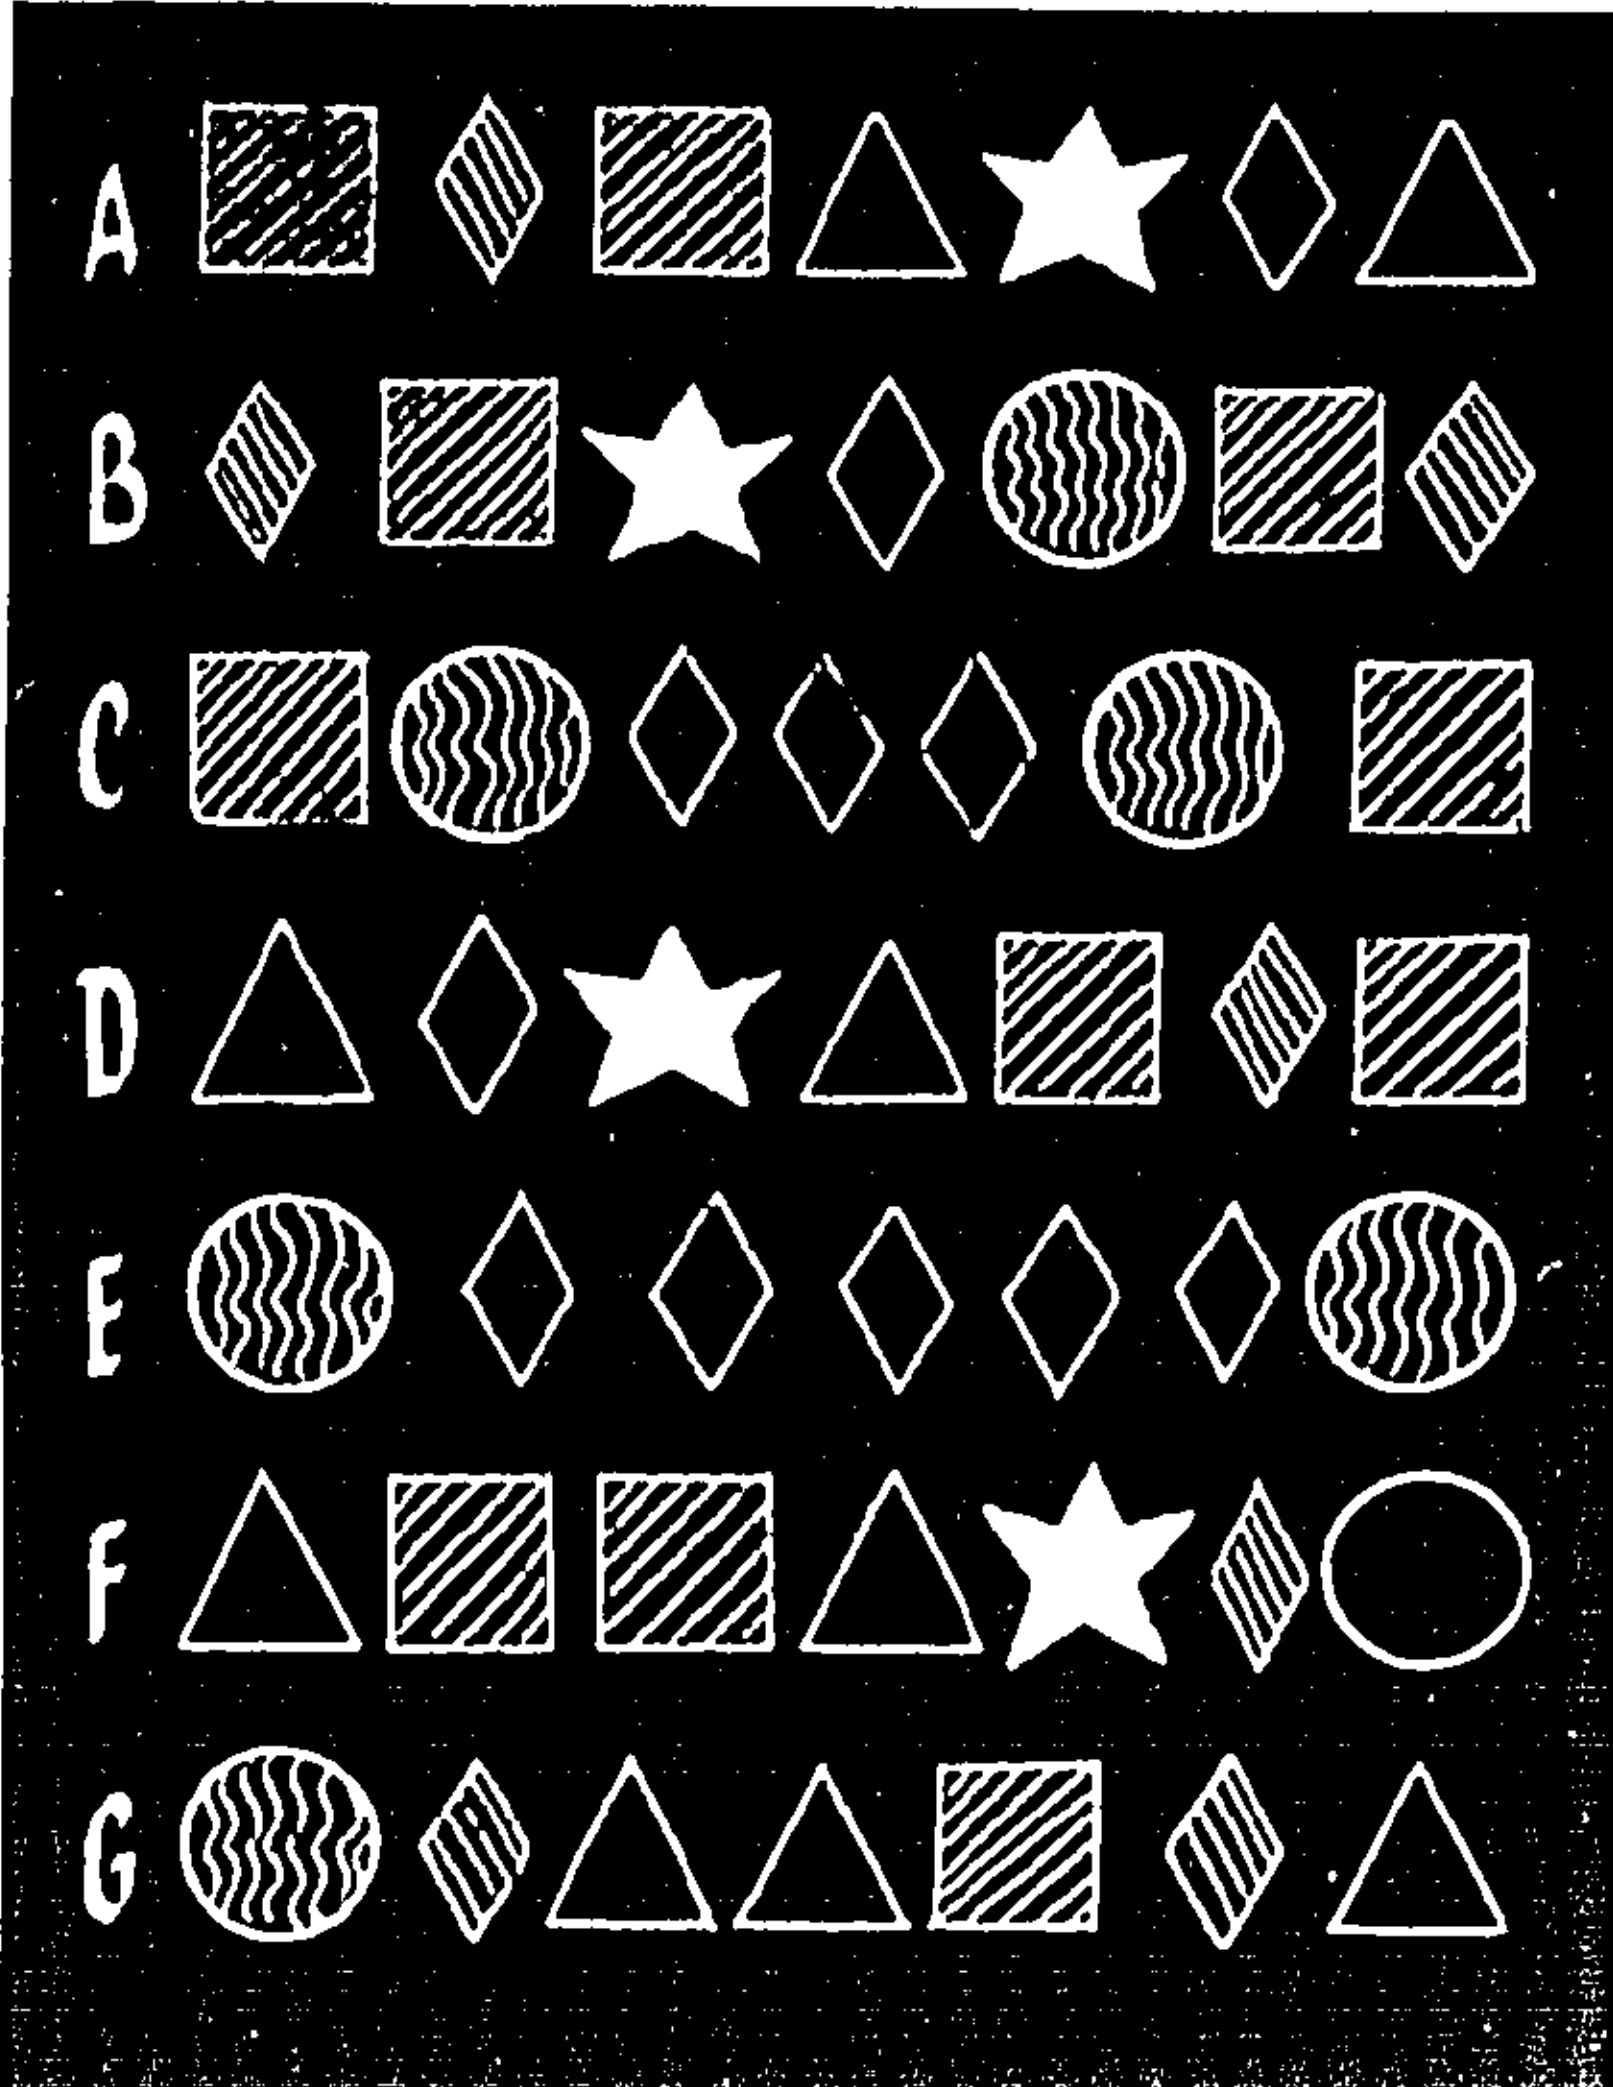

Solution: by first post on Wednesday to Bridge Problem, Hongkong Telegraph, Wyndham Street.

SOLUTION TO NO. 82

South leads the king of diamonds and overtakes with the ace, and ruffs a low diamond with the king of spades. The ace of spades is then led and East is thrown in with the low spade. North discarding a heart. The club lead yields the dummy tricks, on the second of which West is squeezed.

Dear Kiddles,
Last week's competition was a little too easy for the older children. Nearly all the entries received were correct. Some of you, however, made the word puzzle, that is, added an 's'. This was done mostly with the word signal and ladder. There was no 's' at the end of these words.
The prize-winners this week are:
Arthur Dand (aged 12), Diocesan Boys School;
Helen Coates (aged 8), Village Villa;
Eleanor Mary Bray (aged 6), 21, Ching Chow.
Coupons are being sent to Arthur, Helen and Eleanor which I want them to bring to the 'Hongkong Telegraph' office. The coupons will then be exchanged for money prizes.
Specially commended for good work are the following:-

FOR nearly three and a half centuries November the Fifth has been commemorated as the anniversary of the gunpowder treason.

No doubt it will be so commemorated for centuries to come, giving, as it does, an excellent excuse for a big bang and a display of pyrotechnics.

This amazing plot, which nearly succeeded, is yet another instance of the fanaticism that can attach itself to religion.

To find the causes leading to it, one must look back to the position of the Roman Catholics in this country during the latter part of Elizabeth's reign.

Elizabeth not only forbade Roman Catholics to practise the observances of their own faith, but actually forced them to attend worship of Protestant churches. Fines of excessors, Roy des Remedios, Gerald Marshall.

This week, kiddles, we are having quite a new kind of puzzle. It is one which will show how observant you really are. Three prizes will be given—one for the best entry in each section.
Look carefully at the rows of shapes on the black panel and answer the five questions given below. For instance, with question No. 1, you will see that no two rows are exactly alike, so the answer is just 'No'. Similarly answer the other four questions—giving the key letters of the rows where necessary. Write the five answers in a neat numbered list on a postcard. Put your name, address, and age underneath, also remember to ask your parent or guardian to sign the card as your own work without help. Then post to the address below to arrive by next Wednesday. The prizes will be awarded in order of merit for correct and, in the Editor's opinion, the best written entries according to age, his decision to be final.

Questions:
1. Are any two rows of symbols exactly alike?
2. Is any row the reverse of another row? If so, which?
3. Which rows contain any symbol more than once?
4. Which row contains a symbol which is not in any other row?
5. Does any row consist of seven symbols all different?

Fill in the name, age and address coupon and send your entries to Uncle Eddie, c/o 'Hongkong Telegraph' before 2 p.m. on Wednesday.

WHY YOU REMEMBER

The Fifth of November

reme severity were levied on those recusants who did not comply.

AS Elizabeth's reign drew to a close the Catholics looked around for a more favourable successor. They turned their eyes to James VI. of Scotland, who, they felt, would at least show tolerance.

So Thomas Percy, a relative of the Duke of Northumberland, was despatched to Edinburgh. He returned with the promise of James that should he become King of England he would not only prevent persecution but give Catholics equal advancement in affairs of State.

In the early days of his reign James carried out his promise, but later reached the conclusion that the Protestant party lay his safety. And so, without the slightest compunction, he threw over those adherents of the older faith.

He openly denied that he had promised them any measure of tolerance at all.

Penalties Restored

A proclamation banished, once again, all Roman Catholic priests and enacted heavy penalties for their assisting or harbouring.

Refractory ones were reinstated, and arrears of such fines demanded.

It is scarcely surprising that such stern measures should generate some active antagonism; but one could scarcely anticipate the dreadful atrocity conceived by Robert Catesby. His plan was to blow up, with gunpowder, the Parliament House on the occasion of the next opening of Parliament, thus destroying at one blow the King, the Lords and the Commons.

Catesby revealed the plot to his cousin, Robert Winter, a Worcester-shire gentleman, whose first reaction was one of horror. Gradually Catesby won over Winter. Winter went to London and returned with one Guy Fawkes, a zealous Catholic, recommended as a brave soldier and an admirable person for perilous adventure.

Guy Fawkes, contrary to general belief, was not the leader. Catesby was unquestionably that.

By this time Catesby had initiated into the plot Thomas Percy and John Wright, who was joined later by his brother, Christopher Wright.

Problems Solved

And then, in a surprising manner, the conspirators' difficulties were solved. One day a noise above them caused alarm. Guy-Fawkes was sent to investigate.

The noise had been made by a coal merchant in the cellar above them. He was moving out his stock of coal, leaving the place. The cellar was immediately below the Parliament House. It might, indeed, have been designed for the purpose.

It was rented in the name of Percy, who set up in it a stock of coal and faggots. Underneath the coal nearly two tons of gunpowder was hidden. Guy Fawkes, assuming the name of Johnson, became guardian of the cellar.

EVERYTHING was now in readiness. But as the time drew near for the accomplishment of the actual deed, the wanton sacrifice of innocent life began to trouble some of the conspirators. It was mooted that possibly some means might be found of warning those they wished to save.

Francis Tresham seems to have been the instigator of this, out of his desire to save his brother-in-law, Lord Mountague, and another brother-in-law, Lord Montague.

Catesby set his face definitely against such proposals, pointing out how they endangered the whole plot.

Some one, however, took matters into his own hands. Lord Mountague at supper one night received a mysterious and anonymous letter urging him not to attend the opening ceremony and begging him to take himself out of London. He was asked to turn the letter.

Instead, Mountague went straightway to Whitehall in search of Lord Cecil, to whom he showed the letter. Winter notified Catesby that their plans were discovered and tried to persuade him, at that late hour, to forgo the project. But backed by Percy and Guy Fawkes, Catesby was adamant; particularly after a visit by Guy Fawkes to the cellars, showed that nothing had been touched.

THE opening of Parliament was fixed for November 5. The day prior to this, Cecil thought it time to disclose the letter to James, who, on seeing it, ordered search to be made around and under the Parliament House.

The Earl of Suffolk and Lord Mountague made a seemingly casual visit to the cellars and, finding Guy Fawkes, inquired to whom the place belonged.

They departed, but Fawkes' answer that it belonged to his master, whose name was Percy, confirmed their suspicions.

Guy Fawkes proceeded to lay a train of gunpowder, in the form of a slow match, to give himself a quarter of an hour to get away. He then left the cellar to obtain food, intending to return at midnight, to guard the cellar throughout the night.

Meanwhile, a party under a Westminster magistrate had been sent by Suffolk with orders to search. They discovered the gunpowder covered with coals and weed. When Guy Fawkes returned at midnight he was arrested.

ON the news of Fawkes' arrest, the conspirators, with the exception of Tresham, fled.

While sheltering in a house in Staffordshire, Catesby, Percy, and others were killed by the sheriff's men, who had surrounded the house.

Eight conspirators in all were tried, in addition to the priest Garnet, who appears to have been innocent of any part in the conspiracy. Nevertheless, he was executed, while the priest Greenway, who was undoubtedly guilty in every way, escaped.

Tresham was incarcerated in the Tower and died there.

Executed in Public

FOR Guy Fawkes there from the beginning, admitted his guilt. The seven others were tried before a special Commission in Westminster Hall. All were condemned to death; to be hanged, drawn, and quartered.

After sentence they were sent back to the Tower; and on the following Thursday four of them met their end—Digby, the elder Winter, Grant and Bates. They were executed in public, St. Paul's Churchyard, with all the barbarity attending such scenes in those days.

The next day Rookwood, the younger Winter, Keyes and Guy Fawkes met a similar fate. Fastened on hurdles, they were drawn by horses to the place of execution—on this occasion outside the old Palace of Westminster over against the Parliament House.

Guy Fawkes went last of all. He was so weak from the dreadful torture he had endured that he could not walk unaided, and had to be helped up the scaffold steps.

INSPECTOR PLAYFAIR

Solution

Humby, under instructions from Playfair, had supplied Mrs. Blyde-Barrow with specially marked stamps. As soon as a letter arrived addressed to her in a faded handwriting, and bearing one of these stamps, he communicated—as previously arranged—with Superintendent Goswell. The stamp on the letter would in itself have been evidence of Mrs. Blyde-Barrow's guilt, even if Goswell's subsequent plans had miscarried.

"Not at all, Mrs. Hill. I can't bear to see kiddles poorly and miserably when I know that all they need is a dose of 'California Syrup of Figs' to relieve their bowels and clear their systems."

"What a load off your mind it must be to see them so full of fun and energy again, and with such a lovely color in their cheeks. Always hungry too, aren't they?"

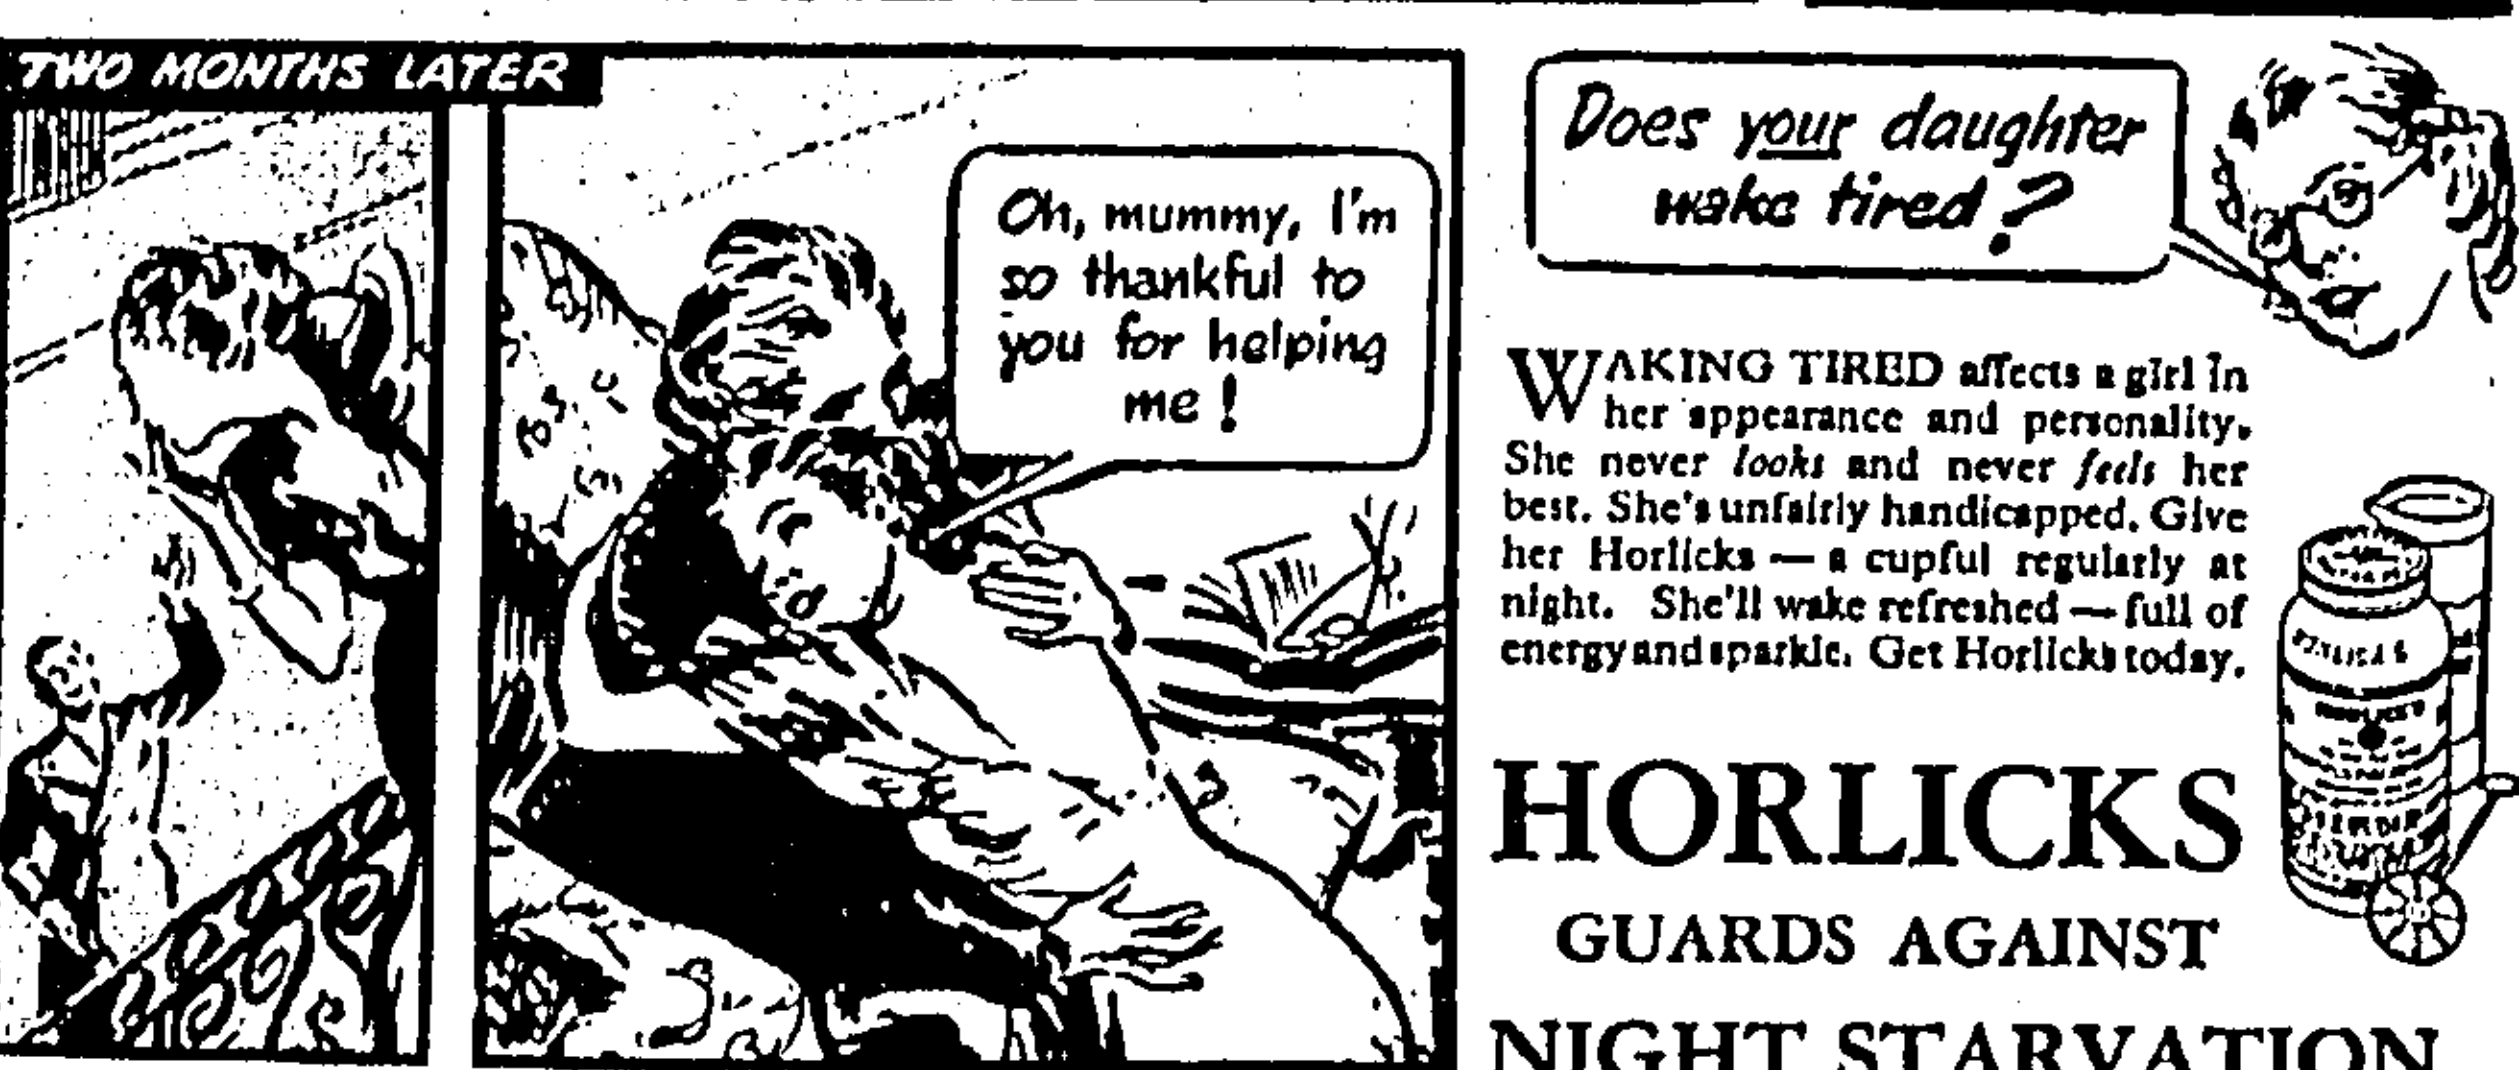

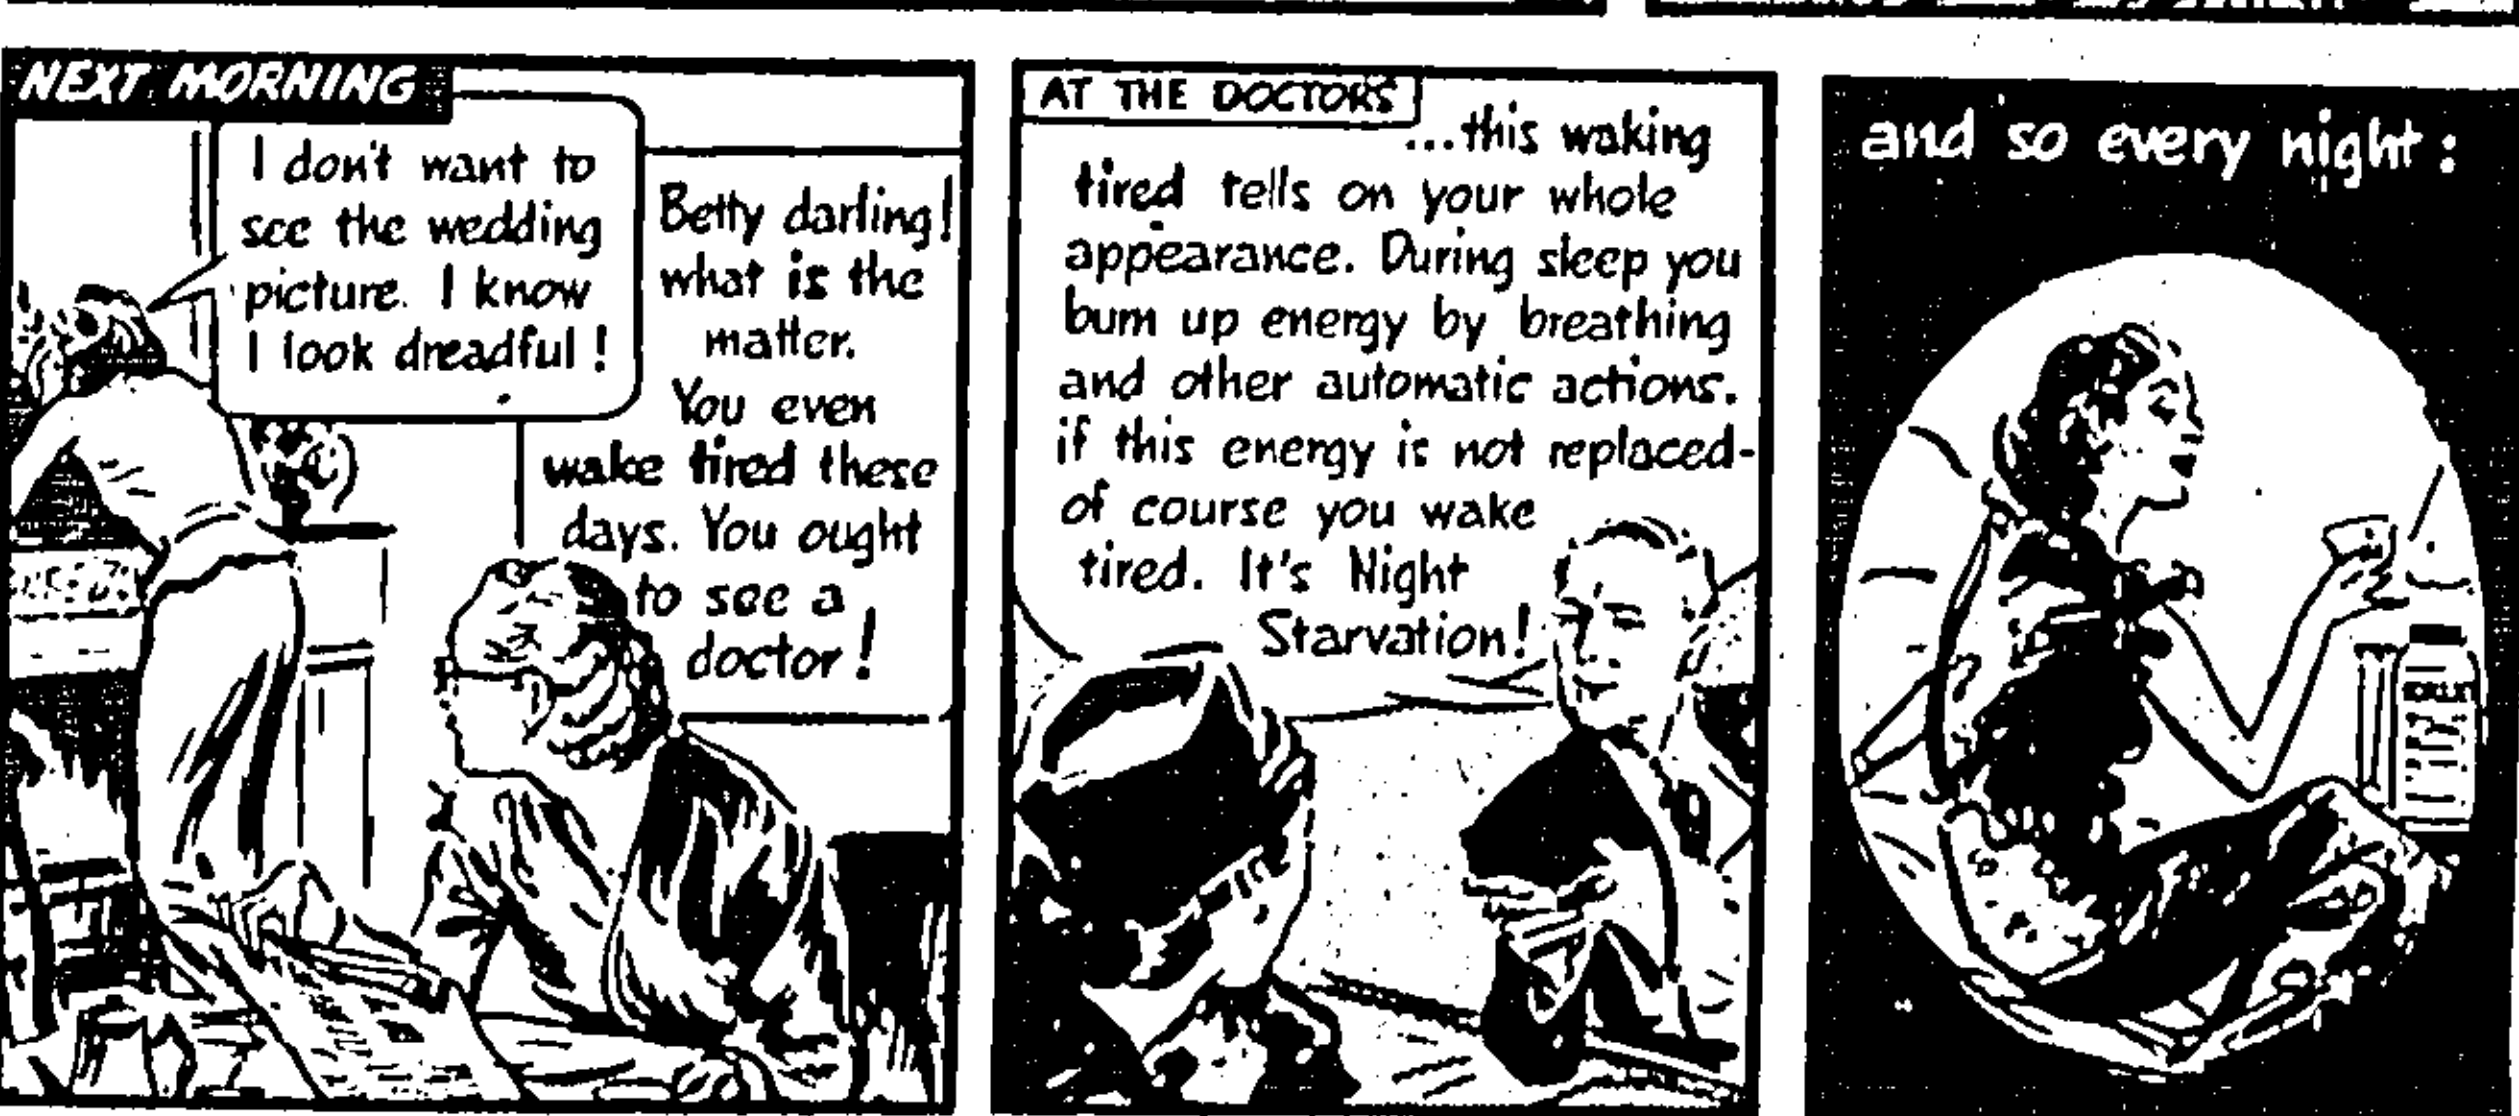

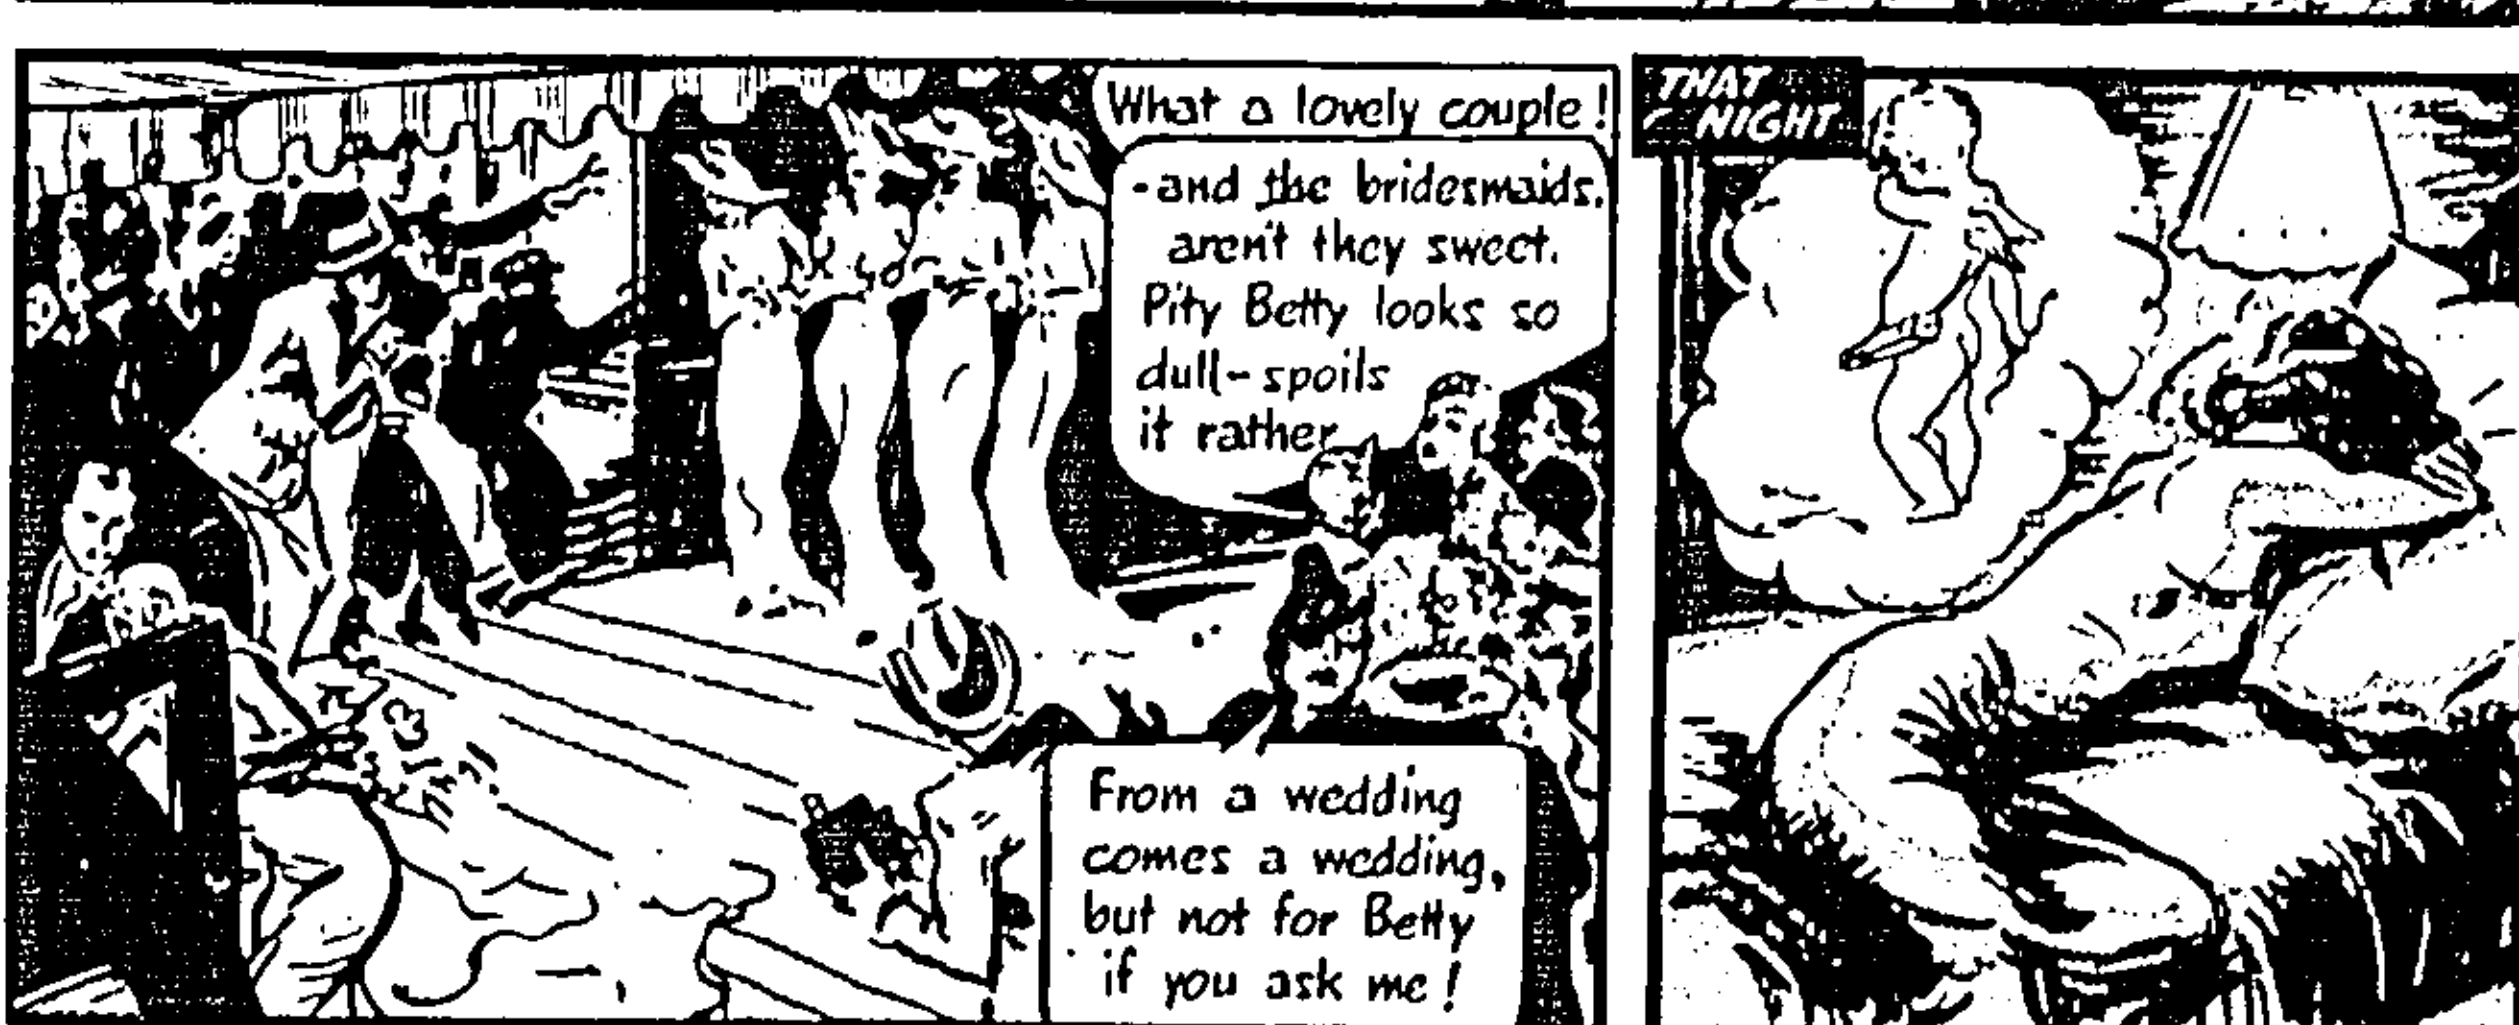

"That's the beauty of 'California Syrup of Figs,' it not only keeps the bowels regular but it tones up the digestion and creates a healthy appetite."

"California Syrup of Figs is never harsh, never gripes and never weakens, like concentrated purgatives. I always feel there's a risk in taking them, whereas 'California Syrup of Figs' being a natural laxative is absolutely safe."

"I strongly recommend you to get the children into the routine of taking a weekly dose of 'California Syrup of Figs.' It will ward off colds and infections and act as a splendid tonic for the system. Speaking from experience, 'California Syrup of Figs' is just as good for adults, especially those who are not too robust."

KILLED BY LORRY

Coroner Finds Death Due To Misadventure

"Death by misadventure" was the verdict returned by Mr. K. M. A. Barnett, acting as Coroner at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday without the assistance of a jury, at the conclusion of an inquiry into the death of a woman named Yue Ng-shi, 68, who died as a result of being knocked down by a motor lorry in Waterloo Road, Kowloon, on October 11.

In his verdict, Mr. Barnett stated that the driver of the lorry, named Wong Kam-leung, had driven the vehicle with insufficient care in reversing without a proper lookout, but that the fault did not amount to manslaughter. Two riders were also named.

Testifying, Wong said that he was reversing his lorry at a slow speed in Waterloo Road on the day of the accident when he felt one of the rear wheels of the lorry was being struck. He alighted and saw that an old Chinese woman had been knocked down.

Questioned by Mr. Barnett, Wong said that when there was no load on the lorry he would open the door closest to him and look out when reversing, but when there was a load on the lorry he would have one of his foks in the street to direct him.

It was stated at a previous hearing, by the son of the deceased, that the clothing his mother had worn on the day of the mishap had been returned to him by the Kowloon Hospital after his mother's death and burial. He had brought the clothing home and burnt it.

Coroner's Verdict

The following is Mr. Barnett's verdict and the riders:

"The deceased died of shock from fractured ribs and ruptured bladder. Her injuries were received in a collision with motor lorry No. 4115, driven by Wong Kam-leung. Wong Kam-leung was driving his lorry with insufficient care in reversing without a proper lookout, but his lack of care does not amount to manslaughter. Death by misadventure."

Rider 1: "In my opinion the proper way to reverse a lorry is with an assistant standing in the road to direct the driver. I recommend that instructions to the effect be circulated to lorry drivers by the Traffic Office."

Rider 2: "Deceased person, whose relatives have not been traced, should be photographed before being buried, and all articles tending to identification should be retained by the Police until instructions are received from the Coroner."

SPEECH BY KING

At Closing Session Of Parliament

REVIEW OF EVENTS

London, Nov. 4.

The speech from the throne, closing the session of Parliament, was read by the Lord Chancellor, Lord Maugham, in the House of Lords today. Dealing mainly with foreign and political questions, the speech recalled the cordial reception of the King and Queen in Paris.

With deep sorrow, the speech continues, the King and Queen watched the development of the German situation in Prague and Berlin to reach a permanent peaceful settlement of the problem of the German minority in Czechoslovakia. The mission of Lord Hume had been a substantial contribution to that effect.

Referring to the visits of the Prime Minister to Berchtesgaden and Munich, the speech says that at the time of the Berchtesgaden visit, the King and Queen had been informed of the peaceful settlement had been agreed upon, but at the last moment the Prime Minister had proposed a Four Power conference to the German Chancellor and Mussolini had given his valuable assistance to this suggestion. Czechoslovakia had accepted the decision reached in Munich with a dignity arousing general admiration.

The speech pays a tribute to the attitude of President Roosevelt during the crisis, and emphasizing the desire of all nations to avoid war, expresses the hope that with the passing of the danger a new European era will begin.

The Government reliably hoped that the Anglo-Italian agreement would strengthen the existing good relations with Italy.

Referring to the Spanish war, the speech welcomes the recent decision of the Republicans to discharge all foreign volunteers and of Franco to withdraw part of the foreigners fighting with their forces.

Referring to hostilities in the Far East, the speech expresses regret for the great losses of life on both sides and for the impairing of rights and interests of third parties, and voices the hope that the conflict will soon near the end.—Trans-Ocean.

PEACE PLEDGE UNION

The local Peace Pledge Union has organized a "Peace Week" which will be held from November 10 to 17. The first meeting will be held in the grounds of St. John's Cathedral at 5.30 p.m. on Thursday, November 10, when the gathering will be presided over by the Right Rev. R. O. Hall.

All other meetings will be held at the Challenge Book Room, Queen's Building, at 5.30 p.m. each day.

HELP FOR THE POOR

Radio Talk On Work Of Charitable Society

Speaking in a radio broadcast from ZBW last night, Father R. W. Gallagher, S.J., outlined the work of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, which is holding its Al Fresco Fete to-morrow. Father Gallagher said:

Next Sunday evening, November 6, at 3 p.m., His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Lady Northcote, will open the Annual Fete of the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

The Society was founded in Hongkong fifty-five years ago. Its members are Catholic gentlemen of all nationalities and of all ranks in life, whose sole aim is to relieve suffering caused by poverty and want.

At the present moment very fine work is being done here in Hongkong for the relief of suffering. Men and women, boys and girls are giving generously both of their time and of their money to bring a ray of light and of hope into the lives of the refugees, who have come across our borders. That work is deserving of all praise. But perhaps, because of it, we may lose sight of the fact that we have our own poor, our own destitute, our own sufferers, whose lot is little better, if at all better than that of the refugees, so we make this appeal to-night for your help in relieving their suffering.

It is to those poor who are with us, not as a passing phase, but permanently, that the Society of St. Vincent de Paul devotes itself. As the Brothers themselves, so those who benefit by their charity are of all nationalities and of all creeds. The only claim in the case of the poor which will be considered is a need of being helped. If that need is there then help will be given in so far as the funds of the Society allow.

No kind of charitable work comes amiss to the S.V.P., as it is familiarly known. In the report for the year 1937-1938 we find mentioned: maintenance of families, visits to the poor in their own so-called homes, visits to the sick in the hospitals, the clothing of children, distribution of food in localised centres, the provision of housing accommodation, the payment in whole or in part of rent, the care of the sick, passages to the hospital for those who must go and who cannot pay, the education of poor children—all come within the scope of the work done by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. Day after day the members are brought into contact with poverty and suffering in its most wretched and degrading form, and they are faced with families and individuals whose only home is a bed-patch, a shelf in some ordid tenement with those who, through no fault of their own, have come down in the world, and who are ashamed to be seen. Time and time again the members of the Society, funds wholly inadequate to meet even a fraction of the charitable work it would wish to do, are supplemented by donations—often at great personal sacrifice—from the pocket of the members themselves.

The Resources. I used the words "meagre resources." The Society has but two sources of income: the Al Fresco Fete which will take place next Sunday, and the Rose Day which this year will be Thursday, December 1. On them, and on the few donations which it receives during the year, the Society depends for the money necessary to carry out the work of every which it does. During the last six years the income from the Fete and Rose Day have dropped from $12,700 in 1932 to $8,700 in 1937. On the other hand the number of our poor—has increased. The Society is doing all it can, even if I may be permitted to say something which seems self-contradictory—more than it can, because of the personal sacrifice of its members.

May I suggest at this point a little examination of conscience. I want you to answer sincerely three questions: What have you done for the poor, what are you doing, and what are you going to do? The success of the Fete depends on you, dear friends, who are listening to me. Its success means far more than a function successfully carried out; it means hope and comfort to countless sufferers.

Each dollar given may or may not be a sacrifice to those who give, but it will be something very big in the lives of those who receive, in the lives of those who have never known luxury, who have, perhaps, never been sure when the next meal will come. It may mean to our part the giving up of some pleasure, a cinema, a dance, some costly trifle, the price of which will secure a number of meals for some who have never been able to see a cinema show in their lives; it may mean simple but neat clothes for some mother who wishes to send her child to school, but is ashamed to do so because she cannot afford the clothes; it may mean medical help which without the little sacrifice on your part could not be provided; it may mean some little joy at Christmas for little children whose only taste of Christmas is getting one mouthful at the boys in a shop window.

Question Yourself. During to-morrow and Sunday, before parting with your money for some two-hours' perfectly legitimate pleasure, stop and ask yourself if it might not be put to some better use. Put it aside for the poor, for the deserving poor, who are so little known because they do not parade their poverty, who are known only because they are sought out by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

The money given to the Society will not be wasted, for every case is tested before relief is granted. Sometimes one hears the objection: we do not give charity because we are so afraid of being deceived—as

It should stop charity—That fear will not arise if the money is given to the S.V.P., for it knows that those it helps are genuine cases.

This year more than any other year help for our own poor is needed. And if we are to judge by what has already been done for those who are not our own, there can be very little doubt as to the response when our own are the subject of our generosity.

The Fete this year will be bigger and better than ever. Every taste is being catered for—with rifle ranges, archery stalls, and other games by which the skill of competitors may be tested. During the last two months all the Associations taking part have worked with tireless energy in the cause of charity. I myself have been deeply touched by the way in which boys have given up their games and devoted their recreations to the making of aeroplanes and other prizes, and what is true of them is true of all the other devoted workers. Show your appreciation by coming and by—and this is most important—spending freely in the cause of charity.

You know where the Fete is being held. Near the Peninsula Hotel. And you know the date—Sunday, November 6.

Let me end with the words of Tobias to his son: "If thou hast much, give abundantly; if little, give willingly of the little which thou hast."

Relief Of Distress

Big Donation From Sir R. Ho Tung

The first meeting of the British Fund for the Relief of Distress in China (Hongkong and South China Branch) took place yesterday.

The Hon. Mr. N. L. Smith was in the chair, and those present were Sir Robert H. Kotewall, Deputy Chairman, the Hon. Mr. K. L. Lo (Hon. Secretary) and Mrs. Lo, Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, Hon. Mr. A. L. Shields, Sir Shouson Chow, the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chan, Hon. Dr. P. S. Selwyn-Clarke, Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, Hon. Mr. O. Hall, Dr. Thomas W. N. T. Tam, Hon. Dr. and Mrs. Li Shu-fan, Mr. Tang Shiu-kin, Mr. Li Yau-tsun, Mr. Chan Kam-po, Mr. Ip Lan-chuen, Mr. Cheung Lan-chow, Mr. H. I. Dickson, Dr. Arthur Woo, Mr. Hon Man-wai, Mr. Chai Shue-ai, Mr. L. Sankul, Mr. J. M. Wong, Mr. Ho Kam-tong, Mr. W. H. Luck, Mr. M. P. Talati and Dr. Irene Ho.

The Chairman stated that the purpose of the fund was to relieve distress in Hongkong and South China. He then announced that His Excellency the Governor, Sir Geoffrey Northcote, had consented to contribute $1,000 to the Fund. (Applause.)

A light indisposition prevented Sir Robert H. Kotewall from attending the meeting, but he had intimated that he would contribute $10,000 to the Fund.

It was decided that subscriptions from the Chinese community, would be left to the four Chinese members of the Council.

The following were appointed to form the Foreign Committee:—Hon. Mr. S. H. Dodwell, Sir V. M. Gray, Mr. W. H. Luck, Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, Hon. Mr. A. L. Shields.

The Committee was asked to proceed with an appeal to the non-Chinese community.

At the conclusion of the meeting, what procedure the Chinese members of Council proposed to adopt, Sir Robert H. Kotewall said that a meeting would be held some time next week, to which representatives of all existing relief organizations, as well as individuals, whether temporary or permanent residents of the Colony, will be invited to voice their opinions, which would be helpful.

The following wrote to the Association apologizing for their inability to attend the meeting: Mr. D. J. Slo, the Hon. Mr. Leo d'Almeida, C. Castro Jan, Mr. J. P. Braga, Mr. S. W. T. Rev. F. W. Short, and Mr. Eu Tien-tsen.

MYSTERY BLAST

German Liner Wrecked By Explosion

CAUSED BY BOMB?

Oakland, California, Nov. 3. An explosion in the cargo hold wrecked the Hamburg-America liner Vancouver to-day. It was flying the Nazi flag.

Captain W. Moersing said the explosion might have been due to a bomb.

It was a damned suspicious explosion and appeared to come from outside the ship. It threw water as high as the superstructure. We can't be sure until we have made an examination," he said.

An eyewitness, H. C. Sugars, a railroad worker, who was fishing at the time, said he heard a sound like a bomb exploding and saw huge columns of water going up in the air.

It was pointed out that if it had happened 20 minutes later the vessel would have been in the deep bay instead of the estuary, where it sank into mud. Divers are boarding a tugboat to survey the damage. The Vancouver's stern has settled 10 feet in the mud while the bow is rising above the water in the causeway separating Alameda from Oakland.

It is reported that several people were knocked down on the docks and stunned. The explosion injured some in the engine room, but were given first aid by the ship's doctor.

There were 17 passengers and a crew of 60 on board the ship, which has been en route from England to San Francisco to pick up 30 passengers who were calling for Bremen. The Vancouver carried a cargo of lumber, fruit and general merchandise.

It was pointed out that this was the second Nazi vessel wrecked within a week, the first being the Deutschland, on which a fire broke out in the holds.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the United States steamboat inspectors are making investigations.—United Press.

ASSASSINATION PLOT

Fascist Rising Foiled In Rio de Janeiro

Rio de Janeiro, Oct. 4. A plot to assassinate President Vargas figures in documents published here and alleged to have been seized during an investigation into a Fascist uprising yesterday.

The papers are said to have been sent by Lieut. Fomler, imprisoned Fascist leader, to Valverde, another implicated in the revolt. They describe a plan for a fresh rebellion and propose assassination, besides President Vargas, of the War Minister, Chief of General Staff of the Army, Chief of Police and others.—Reuter.

A Revelation for Stomach Distress

The Right Way and Quickest Way to Relieve the Cause, Excess Acidity

If you are one of the many thousands who suffer from Sour Stomach, Gas on the Stomach, Distress after Meals—here's good news for you! There is now a sure, safe, and easy way for you to get quick, lasting relief!

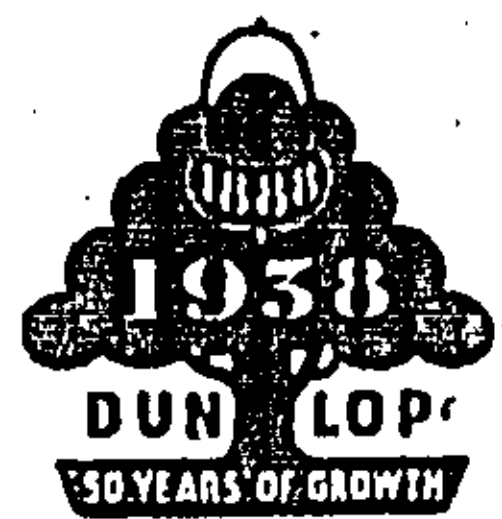

Medical Science has at last discovered the cause of most common stomach troubles and has also developed a remedy which gives almost instant relief from the pain and discomfort—and also corrects the cause of the trouble.

The name of this remarkable product, which has brought grateful relief to so many thousands of sufferers, is Alka-Seltzer. This amazing preparation is most remarkable in the way in which it quickly relieves Headaches, Sour Stomach, Flatulence, Neuralgia and Rheumatic pains, Lumbago, and other common ailments caused by an excessive condition of the system.

To get relief from these troubles, you simply drop an Alka-Seltzer Tablet in a glass of water. It immediately bubbles up and dissolves, making a sparkling, pleasant-tasting solution. You drink it and your pain and discomfort will vanish so quickly that you'll be agreeably surprised. But Alka-Seltzer does more than just give you relief—it also corrects the excess acidity condition of your system which causes your trouble. It's a DOUBLE-ACTING remedy—it relieves the pain and is also a corrective.

Only the best tyres could hold the lead for 50 years

WHEN JOHN BOYD DUNLOP made the first practicable pneumatic tyre in 1888, he founded what is now one of the largest and most important industries in the world.

To-day, many manufacturers in many countries are making tyres, but DUNLOP still stands supreme. By far the great majority of the world's speed and endurance records have been made on, and to-day continue to be held by DUNLOP TYRES.

In this DUNLOP JUBILEE YEAR leadership in tyre manufacture is maintained by the DUNLOP FORT—the world's master tyre. Its 2,000 teeth of toughened rubber bite the road surface and ensure the maximum of comfort, durability and, above all, safety.

10,000 Women Cheer Bride Of The Year

PRUNELLA STACK'S 2,000
WEDDING PRESENTS

TEN THOUSAND EXCITED WOMEN BE-SIEGED GLASGOW CATHEDRAL RECENTLY TO SEE THE YEAR'S MOST POPULAR BRIDE, PRUNELLA STACK, TWENTY-TWO-YEAR-OLD LEADER OF THE LEAGUE OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY, MARRY LORD DAVID DOUGLAS-HAMILTON, YOUNGEST SON OF THE DUKE OF HAMILTON.

Emergency police and traffic measures were on the scale required for a big football match.

Cheering women burst through the police cordon when Miss Stack arrived. She was ten minutes late.

A special force of sixty policemen, mounted and on foot, strove to keep the spectators in check. But the cordon was broken, and several people fainted.

Lord David arrived at the cathedral half an hour before the ceremony was due to start. Some of the crowd who cheered him had been waiting five hours.

Five hundred guests were kept waiting for an hour in a queue outside until the order to open the gates was given.

Every corner of the ancient building was filled, and among the 1,500 guests were members of the peerage, 200 tenants and workers from the Hamilton estates who came by special buses, and representatives of the League of Health and Beauty from all parts of the country.

Sixteen specially chosen members of the league, dressed in uniforms of green, black, and silver, attended the service. The uniforms had been designed by the bride and were worn for the first time.

Before coming to the church three of the train bearers were so excited that they had to be coaxed to take part in the ceremony.

The bridegroom and his best man, his brother, Lord Nigel Douglas Hamilton, wore full Highland dress of Royal Stuart tartan.

The bride, in a gown of parchment velvet, entered on the arm of her uncle, Colonel Alexander Cruikshank, who gave her away.

She had a train five yards long, and her bridal veil was an heirloom of old cream lace. The veil fell from a coronet beaded with lilies of the valley and orange blossoms.

Her only ornament was a cross of pearls which belonged to her mother.

All but one of her six bridesmaids were relatives of either bride or bridegroom.

As the couple left the vestry after signing the register they were met by the Duke of Hamilton's piper, who played them out of the church to a wedding march composed by him for the occasion.

After the ceremony the couple drove two miles through Glasgow streets to a reception in the largest of Glasgow's public halls, St. Andrew's Hall.

Among the 2,000 gifts on view in St. Andrew's Hall was a set of enamel coffee spoons from Mr. Neville Chamberlain.

One of the principal presents was an ermine coat which the Duchess of Hamilton gave to the bride.

This gift caused a great deal of surprise, as the duchess is an ardent anti-fox-hunter, and never wears furs. At the Coronation she wore imitation ermine made from wool.

Lord David and his bride are going to Skye for the first part of their honeymoon. Afterwards they will go to Russia.

1745 TREASURE CHEST HAD—A KEY INSIDE!

Perth.
For 200 years there was something that rattled inside the famous locked treasure chest at Gordon Castle.

Last month there was a breath-taking moment when the lid creaked back on its hinges and revealed . . . part of the original key of the chest.

It is thought that this key was broken in an attempt to open the chest some time before it was cast into the waters of the Spey as far back, it is believed, as 1745. It was recovered at a point where the Duke of Cumberland's army crossed in

CRITIC OF 'GAS MASK' WEDDING

The recent wedding at St. Barnabas Church, Gillingham (Kent), at which A.R.P. volunteers in gas masks formed a guard of honour and a smoke bomb was exploded in the street, was criticised at a meeting of the borough council later.

Councillor S. Briggs drew attention to an item in the report of the General Purposes Committee: "Explosives for training and demonstration, £12," and said explosives had been used in the street outside a church. He did not want to see that happen again.

The Mayor (Councillor L. J. Newnham) asked Mr. Briggs to confine his remarks to the matter under discussion.

Councillor H. A. Tye: "Drop a bomb."

Alderman J. J. Knight: "You will have to wait for another wedding."

EX-MAYOR'S DAUGHTER
The wedding referred to was that of Miss Dorothy L. Treacher, daughter of a former Mayor, to Mr. W. J. Clements, both of whom are A.R.P. workers, Miss Treacher being secretary to the A.R.P. officer.

After the meeting the Mayor said that no permission, even if permission were required, was obtained from the Council or any committee or sub-committee for the use of A.R.P. equipment at the wedding. The matter would undoubtedly be raised at the next meeting of the General Purposes Committee.

Dummy Frightens Motorists

Melbourne, Australia.
A carload of motorists had the fright of their lives here when, without knowing it, they turned into a road set apart for safety tests. Suddenly a school girl shot out from the side of the road and before they could apply the brakes was run down by their car. To their relief she proved only to be a dummy which had been automatically set loose when they entered the road.

Injured at Hospital

Anderson, Ind.
Mrs. John Yauco, 61, is a patient at St. John's hospital here, suffering from a fractured hip sustained while entering the hospital to visit her sister. She fell from her automobile in front of the building. Both she and her sister are recovering.

1746 on the way to the Battle of Culloden.

BOUGHT FOR £52

The chest was bought at the recent Castle sale by a Perth dealer, and in turn sold for £52 to Captain G. A. Buchanan, the Laird of Gask, seven miles from here. He got locksmiths from Glasgow to fit a key to the chest.

Made of iron, with painted panels of Dutch scenes, the chest is presumed to be the work of a noted Dutch craftsman.

Captain Buchanan said that he had merely bought it for its value as a seventeenth-century chest.

HE DARE NOT MOVE IN BED

Nights were Torture through Lumbago

Only those who have suffered from lumbago know how excruciatingly painful it can be. And when they discover a remedy for this complaint, they are anxious to pass on the good news to other sufferers. Let this man tell you how Kruschen cured him:

"I had a bad attack of lumbago. When I got into bed I had to stay in that position—I could not move for pain. I didn't know what to take or what to do. I was advised to try Kruschen Salts and I am very grateful I tried them for this reason. After taking a few doses I felt relief, and after taking one large bottle, I am glad to say that my lumbago has entirely gone, and I have not had the slightest trace of it coming back."

Kruschen is a combination of six natural salts which stimulate your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular activity. They ensure internal cleanliness, and keep the blood-stream pure. New and refreshed blood is sent coursing to every fibre of your being. Lumbago, rheumatism, headaches and indigestion all pass you by.

FALSE TEETH CLEAN AS NEW AFTER 15 YEARS' USE

Even false teeth engorged with age-old stains can be made clean and fresh as new with "Steradent"—the newly discovered dental cleanser. The amazing effectiveness of this scientific cleanser has been proved by Mr. A. H. who writes: "Some months ago I bought a small tin, the result seems almost incredible. My teeth were in a filthy state. I have had them about 15 years. I am not quite sure whether they look better than they did when they came from the dentist but do assure you they are like new teeth."

Thousands of people have made the same discovery at Mr. A. H.'s. False teeth and plates that were black with tobacco stains, and covered with a film of mucus and coated with tartar, have been made fresh and clean as new with "Steradent." Don't let your false teeth grow old. Steradent cleans them thoroughly. Simply shake a little "Steradent" into a glass of warm water and brush. Leave your mouth and plates in while you drink. Don't brush. Simply rinse and your teeth and plates are wholesome and clean again. Where the brush can't reach, "Steradent" is guaranteed harmless to all dental material. Sold by all chemists. Agents: Imperial Chemical Industries (China) Limited, Hongkong.

HE HAS HANDLED 16,000 DIVORCES

And Stayed Married For Thirty Years

Clacton-on-sea.

Mr. Adrian Hassard-Short, who in the last ten years as secretary of the London Committee on Pooft Persons Procedure has handled 16,000 divorce cases, recently celebrated his thirtieth anniversary of happily married life.

Mr. Hassard-Short is fifty-eight, his wife fifty-six. They met in the Law Courts.

They always spend their holidays together, and Mr. Hassard-Short rarely goes to dinners to which his wife is not invited.

Every Saturday they go together to a Brixton music-hall. Two seats are permanently booked for them.

Mrs. Hassard-Short, knitting contentedly in the hotel where they are staying on holiday, said: "Some of these people can't understand when they're taking on when they get married. They never learn to give and take."

Sometimes Mrs. Hassard-Short goes with her husband to his office in the Royal Courts of Justice. Often at their home in Queen's-road, Bayswater, W., she talks over his cases with him.

Mr. Hassard-Short regards his job of helping people with round about £2 a week to obtain divorces, as his "life work."

"DESERTIONS"

Applications this year total 5,500 against under 3,000 for the whole of last year.

He says: "It's the desertion clause (in the A. P. Herbert Divorce Act) which has sent the figures up."

"Since I began doing this work in 1914 I've dealt with 85,000 applications. In the last ten years through me 16,000 poor people have obtained divorce."

"I've often given good advice to the in-laws when they come along with the applicants. Yes, the good old mother-in-law is still the worst offender."

Mrs. Hassard-Short interrupted, "It's the mothers of the husbands. They don't like to see their sons taken away, as they call it. They forget they took some mother's son away themselves."

"And then look at the husband who plays golf all the time."

"And the wife who must be going out every evening," added Mr. Hassard-Short.

The things Mr. Hassard Short and his wife consider the three great sources of divorce are jealousy, selfishness, and ledger."

BRITAIN'S NEW CRUISERS

Heavy Armament Of 8,000-ton Vessels

Entirely new details of Britain's latest cruisers are published in the official monthly organ of the German Admiralty. The ships concerned are nine units of the Fiji class, 8,000 tons, and ten of the Dido class, 5,450 tons, all of which are building or authorised.

The Fiji type represents a smaller version of the 9,000 to 9,300-ton Southampton class, capable of 33 knots, which are armed with 12 6in guns in triple turrets. According to the German authority the Fiji and her sisters are also to carry 12 6in guns on triple mountings assuming this to be correct, they will rank among the most heavily-armed cruisers of their size in the world.

Of special interest are the details of the Dido class, now released for the first time. It had been surmised that these ships would be replicas of the Arethusa type, 5,270 tons, which has a speed of 32½ knots, and carries six 6in guns. Vessels of this type have been much criticised on the score of their feeble armament, compared with that of contemporary foreign cruisers.

HIGH RATE OF FIRE

According to the German Journal, however, the Dido and her nine counterparts are to be armed with 5.2 guns in which case the number is certain to exceed six. Guns of this calibre first appeared in the giant submarine X 1 some 14 years ago, but they were not mounted in any other vessel.

While official details are not available, the new gun is probably not dissimilar to the 5.11in model listed by Vickers-Armstrongs. This piece weighs 4 tons 6cwt and discharges a 60lb projectile, against the 100lb shell of the 6in gun.

It is semi-automatic and has a high rate of fire. If the Dido is to mount a large number of 5.2in guns she promises to be a more formidable fighting unit than the Arethusa. She will deliver a much greater volume of fire in a given period.

DIVING BOY ELECTROCUTED

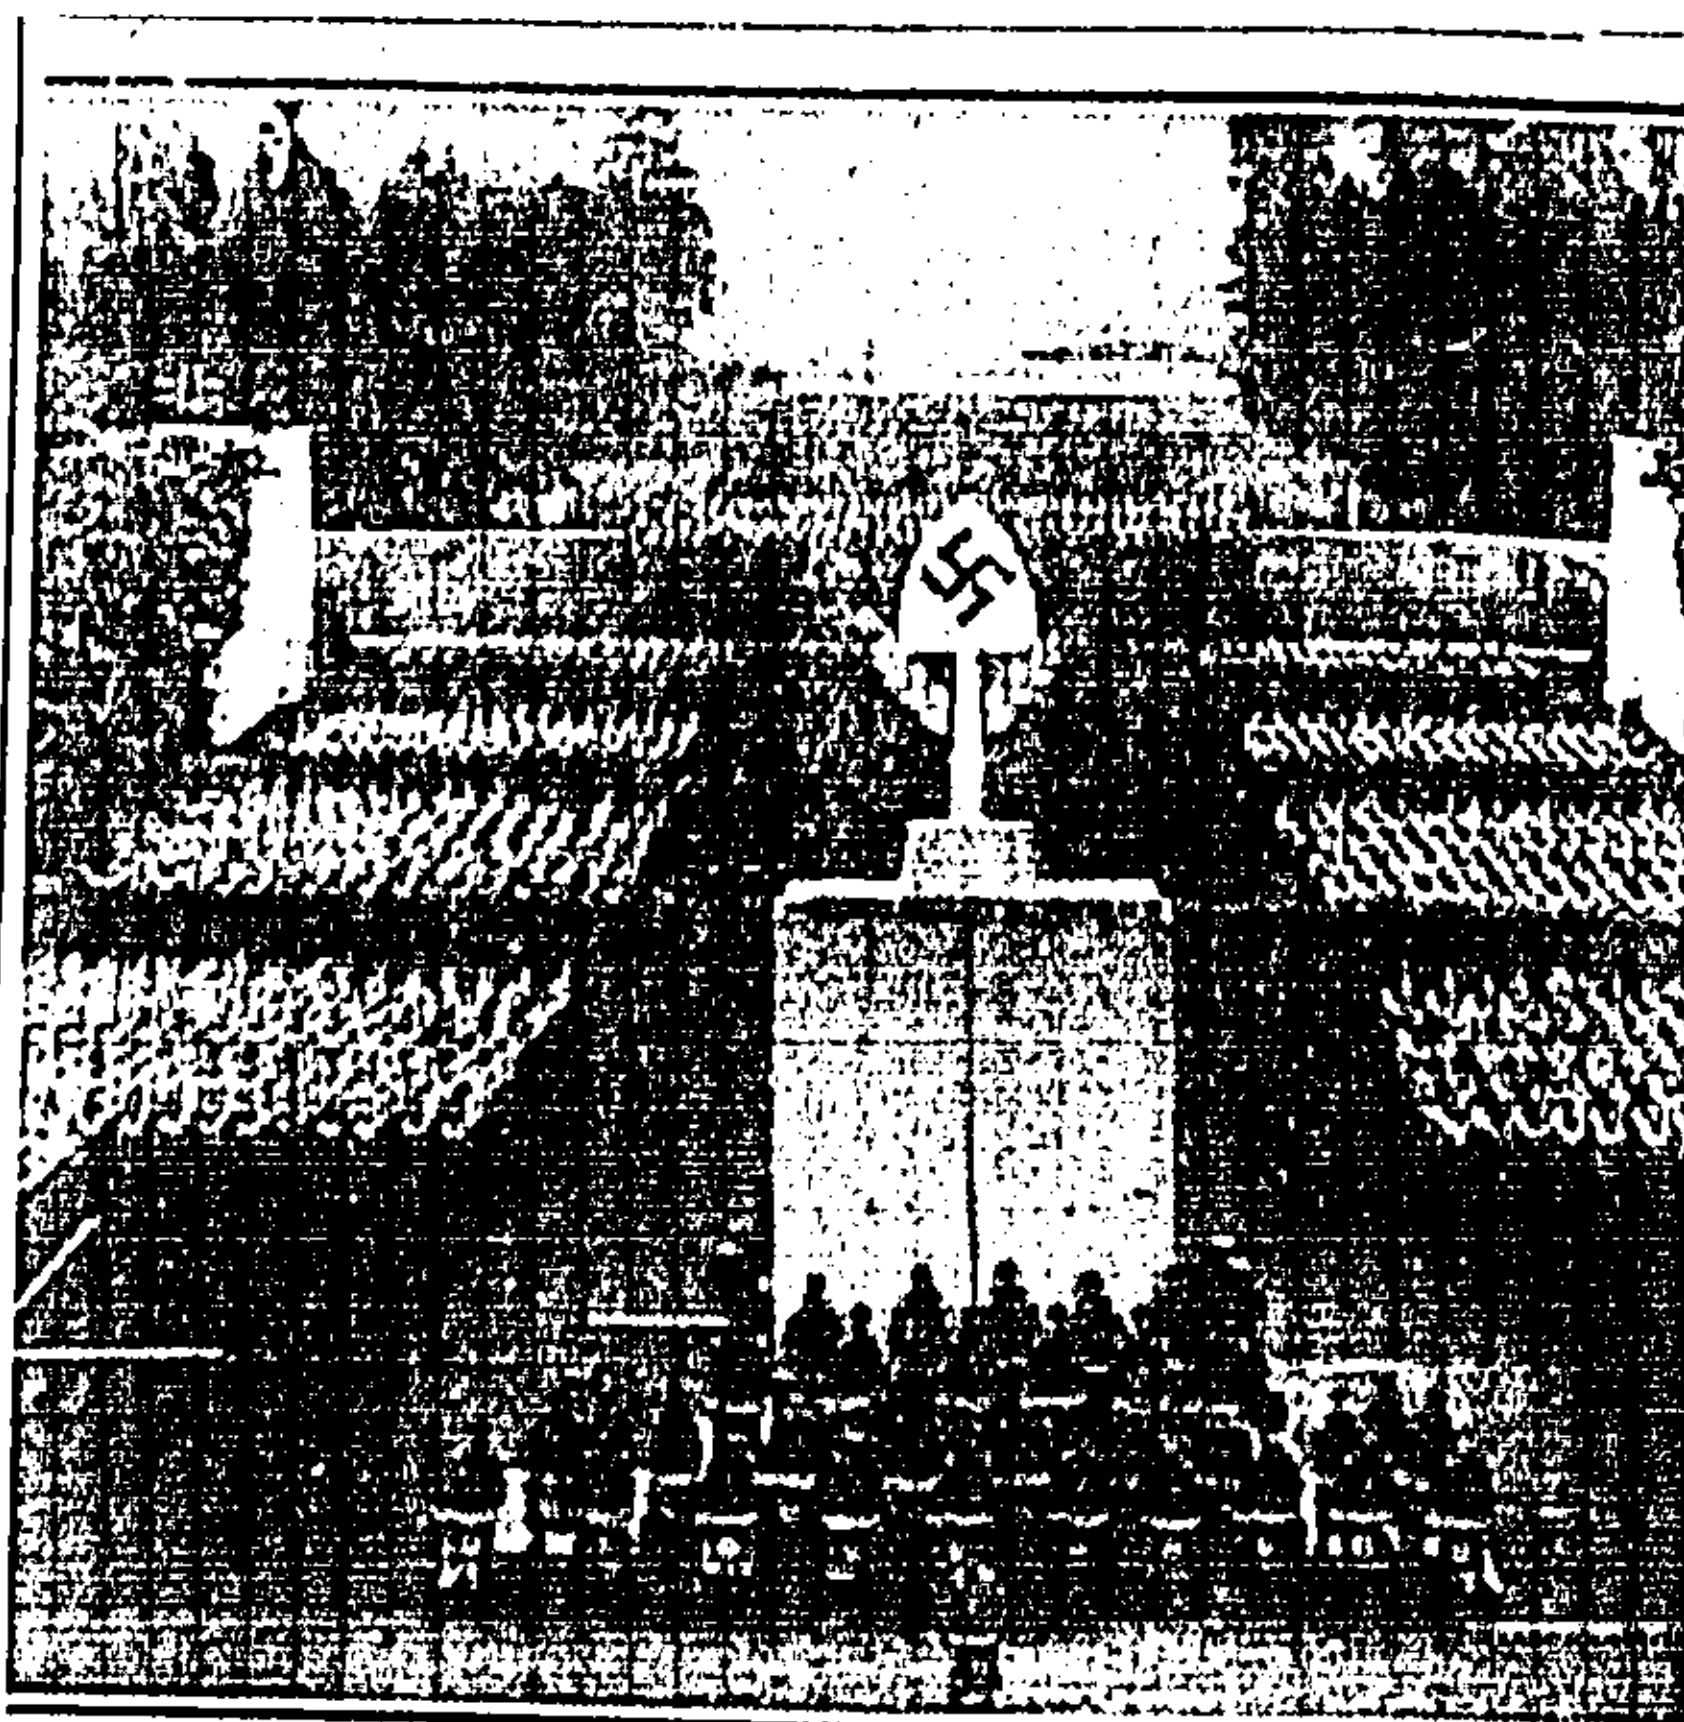

A live wire, hidden in the wall, caused Thomas Higgins, aged 13, of Palmer-street, Sale, Cheshire, to die from electrocution when about to take a dive from a diving board at the local baths.

The board was out of use, and had been pushed back, touching the wire.

It was stated at the inquest recently that if the boy had not been wet and standing on a wet surface he would not have received the shock.

The superintendent said that he had been 15 years at the baths and that was the first he knew of the wire.

Verdict: Accidental Death.

Under a Hitler law, every physically fit German lad of 18, regardless of rank or wealth, must spend six months in a labour camp at pitance wages, without aid from home. Above are some of the lads, carrying spades, in a mass demonstration at the recent Nuremberg congress. The affair was called the "mass glint," with the sun shining on shovels and bare shoulders.

BLOODHOUNDS HUNT 2 FUGITIVES

Climbed from Gaol by Bent Pipe

LEWES.

Bloodhounds were used recently in a search for two men who made their second "break" from Lewes Prison within five weeks.

The men, who got away from a working party in the grounds, are:

George William Harris, age 22, height 5ft. 6in., fresh complexion, dark brown hair, blue eyes, proportionate build, oval face; and Archie Lewis Walwright, age 25, 5ft. 7in., fresh complexion, fair hair, grey eyes, proportionate build, long face.

The discovery was made about six o'clock by a warder who found a length of metal pipe, bent at one end, hooked over the outer wall of the prison. After sealing the pipe the men would have to drop 19 feet to the ground.

DOWN'S SEARCH

Warders and police searched the Downs nearby. Following one report a detachment was sent to an empty house a mile away on the hills. Other warders searched disused stables, and a mill adjoining the prison.

Police went to Falmer, near Brighton, where the men were reported to have been seen.

A warder's wife said that during the afternoon she saw the two prisoners making their way across the Downs.

A badge bearing a prison number, stuck to be that of Walwright, was picked up near the prison wall and handed to the authorities.

Two men who escaped from Lewes Gaol last month were recaptured one after being at liberty for three days and the other 12 days.

LAKE BOATMAN ACQUITTED

Killarney. "I look after my passengers and care for them as if they were my own children," said Patrick Lynch, 56-years-old, Killarney boatman, after he had been acquitted here recently on a charge of the manslaughter of five English tourists.

His boat overturned on Lake Killarney on August 24, and five of the 24 passengers were drowned. "It has been a nightmare to me," Lynch added, "but never at any time did I think the case would end otherwise."

District Justice H. L. Connor declared there had been undoubtedly an error of judgment both in regard to the number of people carried in the boat and the strength of the current.

Lynch was fined 5s. In each case on charges of using an unlicensed pleasure boat and for not having his name painted on it. Charges alleging overloading and failing to exercise proper skill and care were dismissed.

Ancient Perfume Potent

Athens. The fragrance of flowers picked more than 2,200 years ago was still retained in small jars of perfume found in the tomb of a 2-year-old girl, who was buried in the third century B.C., at Sedes, Macedonia.

MR. GOOD FINDS MAKING £250,000 'DULL'

Alan Paul Good, thirty-three-year-old "company doctor"—about whom City men say "He'll make a million"—talked recently of how his personal fortune, estimated at £250,000, has grown from the "£2,000 and a good education" with which he left Oxford twelve years ago.

His latest deal has put £250,000 into the pockets of the shareholders of one of his companies, and brought John Brown's, builders of the Queen Mary, into the aircraft industry. The deal has left him tired but pleased, tired with the months of secret negotiations which preceded announcement of a new merger, pleased because the shares of Petters, Ltd., latest of a series of business firms to rally under his "company doctoring," jumped 10s. a share recently.

FRIENDS HELPED

Their price is now about 45s. each. In 1935, before the advent of Mr. Good, they stood at 6s. 9d.

Alan Good, 6ft. 6ins. and sixteen stone, left Oxford University with no greater distinction than of having rowed for his college.

He said: "Nothing very remarkable has come my way, except an extraordinary proportion of good fortune, luck, which includes having friends. They have backed me with hard cash and benefited."

"At university I was distinguished for nothing, not even for hooligan behaviour. And since then things have really been quite dull."

BEGAN ON £2,000

"When I started my father gave me £2,000. 'If you lose that, you get no more,' he said, in effect."

"I joined a very old-established firm of solicitors, and started taking an interest in property. I did no police court work, except to defend myself against summonses for speeding—driving fast cars fast is one of my hobbies. The only result of my eloquence was to increase the fine."

"The first big deal was the purchase for £100,000 of the Kensington Estate from Sir John Ellerman, the multi-millionaire."

"Money as such does not interest me. The thrill I get is out of discovering a good thing, discarded or hidden, picking it up and polishing it, until it returns to its true value."

One of the largest lions on record has been shot by Gerrie van der Merwe of Lintan Farm. It measured more than 12 feet in length, given period.

Cocktail Ban For Hockey Girls

The Australian women's hockey team to tour England next year will be allowed to smoke two cigarettes a day and wear play-suits on board ship; but they will not be permitted to drink cocktails.

Players have to pay their own expenses—about £200—though each will receive £10 from the Australian Council. States may also raise funds for their representatives.

Incited Soldier to Steal Arms

That he would have been unable to hold a sensible conversation owing to drink was the defence advanced by Archibald Norman Longworth, aged 38, a lorry driver, of Trafford Park, Manchester, charged at Knutsford Quarter Sessions recently with incitement.

Longworth pleaded not guilty to unlawfully inciting between August 13 and 17, Joseph Gordon, 40, a private soldier in the service of the King, to steal the goods of the King from the depot of the Cheshire Regiment at Chester Castle.

He was found guilty and fined £20 5s. Six weeks were allowed in which to pay, with four months' hard labour in default.

The chairman, LL-Col. J. D. Waters, said: "I had I thought you were the duke of any subordinate element, you would have been, undoubtedly, as an example and deterrent to others, go to prison."

"NOT INTERESTED"

Mr. Ralph Sutton, K.C., for the prosecution, said that over drinks Longworth had questioned Joke and Quigley, another soldier, about arms, and asked for a map of the castle. Longworth, who was formerly in the R.A.S.C., said he had no connection with any foreign Government and was not interested in Army matters.

He said to Joke, "As you are fed up with the Army, if you get me some machine-guns I will sell them, and you will be able to get bought out with the money."

Mr. J. F. Marman, defending: Why did you plan this scheme if you had no intention of carrying it out?—It was only foolishness.

Gem Upholds Reno Myth

Reno, Nev. Concrete evidence is now available to sustain the sometimes scoffed at myth that Reno divorces throw their wedding rings into the Truckee river. Sam Buzzard and H. A. Mel-lors of Pennsylvania were gazing into the river from the Centre street bridge when they spotted a blazing diamond. They obtained rubber boots, waded in and came back with a diamond set wedding ring.

Doctor Sued For Water In Medicine

A poser unique in legal and medical history was put to Hull County Court Judge recently. It was this:—

Should a doctor pay trade rate or domestic supply rate for the water he uses to dilute bottles of medicine?

It was argued that a doctor was, in effect, reselling the water. Judgment was reserved.

Hull Corporation had brought an action against Dr. Duncan Ferguson Yuille, of Beverley High-road, Hull, to recover 16s. 6d. for water used in his professional practice.

Mr. J. Boyle, for Hull Corporation, said that its Water Act laid it down that the supply of water for domestic purposes should not include the supply for any trade or business.

Judge Sir R. Mitchell Banks, K.C., said that nobody would claim that a doctor in washing his hands or instruments, was using water for other than domestic purposes.

The difficulty in this case was that the doctor was also using the water to dilute medicines which he sold. The water, in fact, was sold.

Mr. Norman Black, defending, said that anyone who sold tea or coffee was also selling water, but it had been held that this was a use in its nature domestic.

FALSE AIR RAID WARNING

'PHONE OPERATOR ON MISCHIEF CHARGE

"ALL MACHINERY SET IN MOTION"

Alleged to have sent out false warnings of the approach of enemy aircraft during the recent crisis, William Henry Wood, 28, of Leopold-road, Leeds, a part-time telephonist at Leeds G.P.O., was charged at Leeds recently with "causing a public mischief." He was committed for trial, and was allowed bail.

According to Mr. D. W. Bradley, prosecuting, Wood was supplied with secret instructions formulated by the Home Office with regard to air raid precautions, and with detailed instructions regarding warnings of the approach of enemy planes.

It had been arranged, said Mr. Bradley, that all such messages, when received, should be reduplicated to other centres throughout the West Riding.

Wood was also instructed in a secret code and provided with a key to that code.

On Sept. 23 Wood was on duty at the main switchboard of Leeds G.P.O. for four hours from 7 p.m. He went off duty at 11, and at 11.18 a call was received by the operator who had relieved him. The message was in the secret code.

Handing a copy to the magistrate, Mr. Bradley said that the message was the first general warning of the approach of enemy aircraft.

POLICE CHIEFS SUMMONED
The message was immediately distributed over a great part of the West Riding. It was sent to the Leeds police headquarters, and the Chief Constable, the Assistant Chief Constable and the head of the C.I.D. were brought down to headquarters.

All the machinery for dealing with an air raid was put into motion. The fire brigade was told to stand by for further instructions, and similar steps were taken at 69 posts throughout the West Riding.

Albert Oswald Garnett, night supervisor at Leeds G.P.O., said that after the message had been distributed efforts were made to trace the origin of the call and when it was found that it came from a public call box the police were notified, and steps were taken to cancel the message.

Mr. F. H. Lawton, defending: You learned a good deal as the result of this hoax, did you not?—Well, we were fairly well versed in our duties before, although we had not had a test.

CODE EXPLAINED TO HIM
Mr. Lawton suggested that a man in Wood's position in the Post Office would have no idea of the extent of the trouble his code message was likely to cause.

Mr. Garnett: I should say that he would know very well. The meaning of the code words had been carefully explained.

Police Sergt. Kirkbride, stationed at Wakefield, said that when he received the message from Leeds he distributed it at once to 10 different divisional headquarters in the West Riding, and they in turn redistributed it to 69 other points.

Supt. James Craig, head of the Leeds C.I.D., said that following inquiries he went to Wood's house. Wood subsequently made a statement in which he said:

"It is no use going a long way round about it. I know what you are here for."

The officer said Wood then repeated the code message, and added, "I rent it from Spencer-place call box. I just thought I would send it, and that's all."

When Wood was committed for trial, Mr. Lawton intimated that his defence would be reserved.

League Soccer Schedule

Curtailed By Annual Camp

EAST SURREY TO PLAY SOUTH CHINA "A"

(By "Abe")

Owing to the fact that the Volunteers are in camp this week-end, the League Football programme has been curtailed; two matches in the First Division, scheduled to be played this afternoon, have been postponed and there have been several changes in the matches in the other divisions.

The two matches affected in the First Division are:

Kowloon v. Police
Club v. Kwong Wah

The postponement of these two games means that only two senior matches will be decided to-day. St. Joseph's, after their surprising defeat by the Police last week, will meet the Royal Scots, and Middlesex will play South China "B".

The first game will be played at Caroline Hill. While the Royal Scots have been showing improvement in their recent games, the Saints have not been too impressive; but the issue here should be very open. Up to now the Saints are uncertain what their line-up is going to be because some of their players are going to camp.

BEST GAME

In any case, the best match of the day will be seen at Sookunpo where the Middlesex will clash with South China "B". The Midds have already lowered the colours of South China "A" and if they are at full strength, it would not surprise me at all if the champions of the 1937-38 season get beaten to-day.

Only one League match will be down for decision in the First Division to-morrow, this being the one between Eastern and Navy on the Club ground. It should prove an interesting struggle, with the odds in favour of the Navy.

Another good match should be seen at Caroline Hill where South China "A" will engage the East Surreys in a friendly match. When a battalion of the East Surrey Regiment was stationed here ten years ago, it had a very good soccer team; so formidable were they in fact that they carried off the First Division championship during the 1924-25 season.

The following is the senior programme for the week-end:

TO-DAY

St. Joseph's v. Royal Scots (Caroline Hill), 4.15 p.m.
Middlesex v. South China "B" (Sookunpo), 4.15 p.m.

TO-MORROW

Eastern v. Navy (Club), 4.15 p.m.
South China "A" v. East Surrey (Caroline Hill), 4.15 p.m.

CHOY IN FOURTEENTH TENNIS FINAL

Again Beats Jones

By Stanley N. Doust

London, Oct. 1.

W. C. Choy, the Chinese Davis Cup player, reached his fourteenth final this season in the men's singles in the Chiswick Hard Court Club, W., open tournament yesterday.

He beat C. M. Jones in the semi-final by 6-2, 6-4, repeating a performance of a week ago at Rochester.

Choy's task yesterday was easier, Jones playing almost half-heartedly, especially in the first set, without any plan of campaign. Except for a few winning first services, his strokes had little force and less precision.

In the second set Jones did improve in the stage when he went from two games all to 4-2. But instead of making a very determined effort to win the all-important next game, he timidly lost it to 0. Choy then had merely to keep the rallies going for two or three shots to win the next three games and the match.

What is the secret of Choy's success? He has quite a simple service, on neither wing is his drive more than of medium pace, his low volleying is only mediocre, while his low overhead volleying is well placed but not terrific.

Yet very few Englishmen have beaten him.

To-day Choy will play M. Deloford in the final. Deloford beat A. M. Humburger, the Rumanian, by 6-3, 6-4. Deloford has strokes, severity, and speed of foot and, if he is in form, is just the type of player to bustle Choy out of his quiet, methodical style.

The women finalists are Miss P. L. F. Thomson, of Dorset, and Miss Iris Hutchings, of Monaco.

Miss Hutchings beat Miss G. M. Southwell by the peculiar score of 1-6, 6-1, 6-2. None of the sets was won as easily as the scores suggest, for the games were very close and the rallies entertaining. At one time it was doubtful whether Miss Thomson would be able to play to-day, for yesterday she had been appointed to drive a fire engine at Bournemouth in connection with A.R.P. The happy ending of the crisis released her to play at Chiswick.

Miss Hutchings beat Miss B. Pawson by 6-3, 3-6, 6-1.

(In the final, Deloford beat Choy 7-5, 6-2.)

OXFORD'S STROKE NOW AT CAMBRIDGE

A. B. Hodgson, who stroked Oxford to victory in the last two Boat Races, has taken up residence at Trinity College, Cambridge.

An old Etonian, Hodgson, was at Oriel College, Oxford, for two years and led the Dark Blues when they defeated the Light Blues for the first time for 14 years in 1937.

"There is nothing to prevent Hodgson from rowing for Cambridge now," a prominent University athletic official told the News Chronicle.

"But he would be breaking all precedent if he did so."

"Nevertheless when it is so necessary to specialise it often happens that a man who has an Oxford degree has to go to Cambridge for some branch of study which only Cambridge teaches, and vice-versa."

"Last year Eddie Teesdale, who was the Oxford athletic president in 1936, was at Cambridge, but he never ran for Cambridge against his old University. Similarly, M. Jahangir Khan, the Cambridge All-India cricketer, went to Oxford after he had been three years in the Cambridge XI, but he did not play for Oxford."

TARLETON MAKES A COME-BACK

Triumphant Return To The Ring

London, Oct. 17.

One of the oldest slogans of the ring is: "Beaten champions seldom come back." Many almost-forgotten stars have made the effort; less than half-a-dozen have succeeded in regaining their place on top of the boxing world. Ned Tarleton of Liverpool, former British feather-weight champion, has joined the small group who have succeeded.

He made a triumphant return to the ring after an absence of 18 months, at Liverpool Stadium, when he easily out-pointed Arnold Lagrand, the feather-weight champion of Holland, over 10 rounds.

Tarleton showed all his old brilliance, the Liverpool idol delighting 5,000 spectators by the skill of his boxing and cunning ringcraft. Lagrand fought a purely defensive battle and was completely bewildered by the ex-champion.

EXACTING TASK

Tarleton had an exacting task, for Lagrand seemed to have made up his mind to stay the full distance. The Holland boxer continued on the retreat, with Tarleton chasing him from corner to corner.

Tarleton used every subterfuge to induce Lagrand to take the initiative, but the Holland boxer seemed to sense that he was running into trouble and preferred to back repeatedly.

Tarleton's tactics and speedy two-hand punching dominated the fight throughout, although Lagrand showed some well in the fourth round, when, by diligent defence, he caused Tarleton to miss several times.

It is not because he wants money that Tarleton is returning to the game at the age of 30. Ned, who was possibly the most brilliant 9 st. boxer since Jim Driscoll, earned a small fortune with his fists—and looked after it.

He has not done much boxing since he was dethroned by McGrory a couple of years ago, but he has maintained his fine physical fitness.

NAVY FIELDING STRONG

FIFTEEN AGAINST CLUB TO-DAY

Civilians Under Strength Owing To Volunteer Camp

(By "Fly-Half")

In their friendly game against the Navy at Causeway Bay this afternoon, the Club are fielding a few newcomers in the 1st XV to replace men either injured or at the Volunteer Camp. The kick-off will be at 4.15 p.m.

H. D. Bidwell, the Club captain, is again an absentee through injury. The back division has been reshuffled to fit in the new men. W. E. Grieve, who scored three tries for Club last week-end against the Army, is moved from centre-three to stand-off half. He will have a busy afternoon marking Lieut. Elliot, the Navy captain and stand-off half. Alone he may make the openings for Club.

With both 1st XV wing-threes unavailable and E. Lammer injured, Club have moved M. G. Carruthers out to the wing and have brought W. M. MacGrath up from full-back to fill the other wing berth. MacGrath has the speed for the position and should fit in well.

G. S. Wilson and E. Taverner are brought in to fill the inside positions. J. R. Henderson comes in at full-back—a position he has been filling with credit in the "A" XV. The forwards remain practically the same.

STRONG NAVY SIDE

Navy are fielding what would seem to be their strongest team to date. The return of Lieut. Talbot after a fortnight's absence through injury will add more sting to the Navy attack without weakening the defence. Much will depend on his understanding with Lieut. Elliot, Lieut. Pumphrey, who played a sound game against the Club "A" XV last week-end, is included in the pack where he should be of great assistance at the line-outs.

On display up to date, the Navy pack will literally wade through their opposition unless the Club eight mend their ways and do some honest binding and shoving in the loose and set mauls.

ARMY XV V. CLUB "A"

This match will be played on the same ground at 3 p.m. and some good rugby should be seen. The Army will probably be playing a strong side as many of their players have not yet been thoroughly tested. Club "A" will be under-strength owing to the calls made on their players by the 1st XV.

The teams are:
Club 1st XV—J. R. Henderson; M. G. Carruthers, G. S. Wilson, E. Taverner, M. W. MacGrath; W. E. Grieve, E. C. Luskomb; K. A. Watson, K. W. Salter, G. Pratt, C. M. Stark, G. J. P. Carey, E. W. Stout, A. J. G. Taylor (Capt.) and W. B. Richardson.

Navy—Lieut. Stevens (Kent); Lieut. Walters (Olympus), Lieut. Bayly (Eagle), P. O. Askwith (Dainty), Supt. Wells (Medway); Lieut. Elliot (Eagle), Capt. Lieut. Talbot (Otus); A. B. Thatcher (Eagle), Supt. Staples (Eagle), Ldg. Sea, Romans (Eagle), Lieut. St. John (Pandora), Lieut. Pumphrey (Dorsetshire), Lieut. Ogle (Phoenix), Lieut. Anderson (Olympus) and Pay. Mid. Young (Dorsetshire).

Club "A" XV—G. Low; A. B. Nelson, J. Redman, G. Lee, F. M. Thomson, A. N. Other, R. Rutherford; W. G. Sehnabel, J. S. Dunnett, G. M. Mays, P. W. Burton, T. Swan, K. H. G. White, J. Brown and G. L. Eastgate.

Particulars Wanted!

We have been asked to remind league badminton club secretaries that many of them have still not sent in the required particulars of addresses, telephone numbers, players' names, etc., to the hon. secretary of the Badminton Association.

As this information is needed immediately for inclusion in the handbook, it is hoped that secretaries will forthwith supply the desired particulars.

BOROTRA RETAINS HIS OLD SPIRIT

WINS HIS NINTH TITLE AT 40

London, Oct. 17.

Marvellous Jean Borotra, 40 years old, with a leg broken in the Alps and having another six months before he is quite sure of it, bounded and rushed and drove and volleyed his way through the National Covered Courts Championships at Queen's Club to his ninth title.

He was magnificent. In all his matches he was up at the net in a twinkling, darting, diving, forcing the ball through the narrowest of openings. It was a wonderful demonstration of physical fitness, will-power and nervous resources at the age of 40.

Every available space was occupied by spectators to see Borotra beat D. Butler in the final. It was thought that the handicap of years (he was conceding 11) would tell against Borotra, but his old-time speed and sagacity gave him victory by three sets to one.

This year, Borotra will probably become president of the French Lawn Tennis Federation, but Borotra is not giving up active play.

"I will not play any more single in major championships," he said. "I will confine myself to playing doubles and in endeavouring to help my young countrymen to improve."

Those who saw him win this title can hardly realise that he is 40 and there are many more years of tennis in the most popular player who ever swung a racket.

 The Fanling Hunt Committee regrets that it has found it necessary to bring the Hunt subscription up to £4.00 (i.e., $64 to the £2) owing to the greatly increased cost of maintaining the Hunt, and it is hoped that Members will appreciate that it would not have been done unless absolutely necessary.
 A Visitor's Cap of $5 will be charged for a day's hunting; caps being limited to a maximum of five, after which the remainder of the full subscription must be paid.

U.S.R.C. REVERSES DECISION

The Women's Tennis Championships of the Colony will be organised again by the United Services Recreation Club this year. This reversal of decision was made known through the following notice:

The General Committee of the United Services Recreation Club announce that, at the special request of the President of the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association, His Honour Mr. Justice R. E. Lindell, the Club will again hold the Ladies' Colony Tennis Championships this year.

MIXED DOUBLES ENTRIES

Entries for the Colony Mixed Doubles Tennis Championships, which are being organised by the United Services Recreation Club, are still short of the required number, and the public is reminded that to-day is the closing day for entries.

SOFTBALL TEAM

The following will represent the English Forum against the Hongkong Baseball Club at softball to-morrow on the Central British Association ground, King's Park, commencing at 3 p.m.:

Death of Lord Hawke Old School Tie Champion of Empire Cricket

London, Oct. 11.

Lord Hawke, Grand Old Man of Cricket, died yesterday in an Edinburgh nursing home, aged 78.
 The old claim for cricket—now a subject for satire—that it was "a game of character, my boy, character," found its apotheosis in Martin Bladen Hawke.

For, while he will be ranked with "W. G." with "Ranji," with Croucher Jessop and Demon Spofforth, his ground for inclusion in that high company will rest not on actual skill but on force of character; not the game's but his own.
 He captained Yorkshire from 1883 to 1910, and was its president for 30 years in succession.

In his score of 13,429 runs were ten centuries; his biggest innings was 166 against Warwickshire in 1886.

78 OUT OF 80 WON

As a captain he was admirable. If a man struck a bad patch, Hawke put him higher up in the batting order instead of displacing him by demotion. He would clip a bowler on the back with the words, "Buck up!" when things were going wrong. And, though he batted 8th or 9th wicket down, he pulled many a match out of the fire by pluck rather than skill.
 And two lost matches out of 80 played was just one of his team's records.

He was a great man too, when he took teams to Australia, to the West Indies, to North and South America and to South Africa—and played through the Jameson Raid of '96.

GROWING TETCHY

But in his later days, after he had steered the M.C.C. through the dark days of the war and its consequent reorganisation, he was something of an anachronism.

When Cecil Parkin, that stormy petrel of Lancashire cricket, suggested that, after Gilligan's failure in Australia, the captaincy should be given to Jack Hobbs or to A.P.F. Chapman, with Hobbs as adviser, Hawke cried: "God forbid we should ever have a professional as captain of England. I love professionals, but we have always had an amateur captain!"

Lord Hawke got his "flannels" for Eton, his "blue" for Cambridge (Magdalene College). He played for Yorkshire before he went up to the University and captained the county at 23. He trained for cricket—"no smoking till 5 p.m. when I'm playing."

In a phrase, Martin Bladen, recently Baron Bladen, runner, big game hunter, Corinthian, was the embodiment of the Old School Tie philosophy that played for the Empire with a Straight Bat through Life.

HITLER TO SPEAK

Berlin, Nov. 4.
 The speech which Herr Hitler will make at Weimar on Sunday afternoon will very likely be of international importance, Reuter understands from party circles, as Herr Hitler will refer to the recent events in Europe.

The speech will be made at a mass demonstration in the course of Thuringia's annual Nazi Party meeting. Thuringia was the first State in Germany with a Nazi Government. —Reuter.

MEMEL ELECTIONS BOYCOTTED

Kovno, Nov. 4.
 All of the right municipalities in the Memel district boycotted to-day's elections for National Councils. The latter are chosen by members of the district Town Councils and in turn they elect a new President.

Anti-Lithuanian demonstrations are being continued in the Memel territory under slogans like: "Thanks Hitler!" and "Home To The Reich." —Reuter Special.

Chamberlain To Pay Visit To Paris

LONDON, Nov. 4.
IT IS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED THAT Mr. Neville Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax have accepted the invitation of the French Government to visit Paris from November 23 to November 25.
Mrs. Chamberlain and Viscountess Halifax will accompany them.
"Reuters" diplomatic correspondent writes that no details of nature of the discussions between the British and French Ministers are yet announced, and it is not known what political personnel Mr. Chamberlain will bring with him. But the visit will furnish an opportunity for further exchanges of views on the European and world situation, as it has been since the Munich agreement—Reuter.

PARIS SATISFACTION
Paris, Nov. 4.
The visit of Mr. Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax is an affirmation of the Franco-British friendship, according to authorized French circles. Satisfaction is expressed here over the visit, as it is considered very important that France and Britain should maintain the closest contact. It is pointed out that another important consideration is that the French Government should learn first-hand of Mr. Chamberlain's programme of the future, especially as the recent speeches of Mr. Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax to Parliament have been sympathetic to the "Totalitarian States" than would meet with the approval of all sections of the Left and Right parties in France.
The people of Paris certainly will be eager to see Mr. Chamberlain, for he is still almost a legendary figure of the "man who saved us from war" to many Frenchmen—Reuter.

"Reformed" Govt. Takes Over Customs

Shanghai, Nov. 4.
The five-barred flag of the "Reformed" Government was hoisted over the Shanghai Customs House today.
Customs officials said that this should not be taken to mean that the integrity of the local administration was necessarily upset, citing as examples that the northern customs houses were now functioning more or less normally under the five-barred flag—Reuter.

CHINESE TO HAVE REGISTER

Plan For Voluntary Aid To Authorities

That a voluntary register for all Chinese in Hongkong, whether British subjects or not, will shortly be instituted, was revealed by the Hon. Sir Robert Kewall in an interview yesterday.

Sir Robert had been approached regarding his views on Thursday's editorial in the S. C. M. Post on the National Register, proposed for the Colony, which suggested that Chinese of British citizenship should also be required to take their part in the Colony's defence preparations, and he disclosed that the matter had been under consideration for some time and that it had been decided to invite non-British Chinese to co-operate.

"The suggestion is a timely one," said Sir Robert. "The matter has, however, received the attention of the Government."

"It may interest you to know that as far back as the beginning of this year I, at the request of His Excellency the Governor, and with the assistance of my Chinese colleagues on the Legislative Council, prepared a list of those Chinese of British nationality who, in our view, would be useful in time of emergency."

With this, Sir Robert produced a list bearing a large number of names, divided into various sections according to qualifications.

"Over two months ago," he continued, "I was asked by His Excellency the Governor to undertake the work of registering Chinese voluntary workers for essential services."

"There is no restriction as regards nationality because from experience gained in the past many Chinese residents of Chinese citizenship were ready to assist the Government in time of emergency, such as the General Strike and Boycott of 1925-26."

"A form for the registration has been adopted, and will include an item regarding nationality. When and if the need arises, jobs can be assigned according to the qualifications, and in some cases, the nationality."

After producing some comprehensive specimen forms, Sir Robert concluded by saying, "My Chinese colleagues and I hope to call for the voluntary registration of Chinese residents soon after the registration of British subjects begins."

ANNEXATION OF MANDATES
London, Nov. 4.
Discussing what will be the outcome of the "obvious truth" that Japan intends eventually to annex the Pacific islands administered by her under mandate, the Manchester Guardian writes that it is essential that this, although unpreventable, should not be permitted to appear lawful.

If Japan is allowed to annex the mandates without protest, the view of those who believe that the sovereignty of mandated territories is vested in the Allied and associated Powers, will be greatly strengthened. International lawyers may quote it as a precedent.

On the other hand the most authoritative view which coincides very close with the whole purpose of the mandatory system is that sovereignty is vested in the League, for which the various mandates hold the territories on trust.

Certainly no mandatory Power can either annex or transfer its mandate without the full consent of the League Council. Therefore it is anticipated that the Council at its meeting in January should make some declaration on the Japanese decision to withdraw from the non-political activities of the League, with which the Manchester Guardian agrees, this question is bound up—Reuter.

DIRECTOR OF PENSIONS
Mr. Ng Chuk-wing has been appointed to be a Director of Widows' and Orphans' Pensions, vice Mr. Sung Teng-man, as from November 1.

KULING'S ANXIETY Fear Starving Chinese May Raid Resort

Hankow, Nov. 4.
Anxiety is again being felt for the safety of foreigners in Kuling. The Japanese have completely surrounded the mountain on which Kuling is situated, but apparently it is not intended to occupy the summer resort.

It is estimated that between 1,000 and 3,000 Chinese are on the mountain side within the cordon and food supplies are rapidly dwindling. Kuling residents are comfortably stocked with food for a few months and it is feared the Chinese may seize the foreigners' supplies.

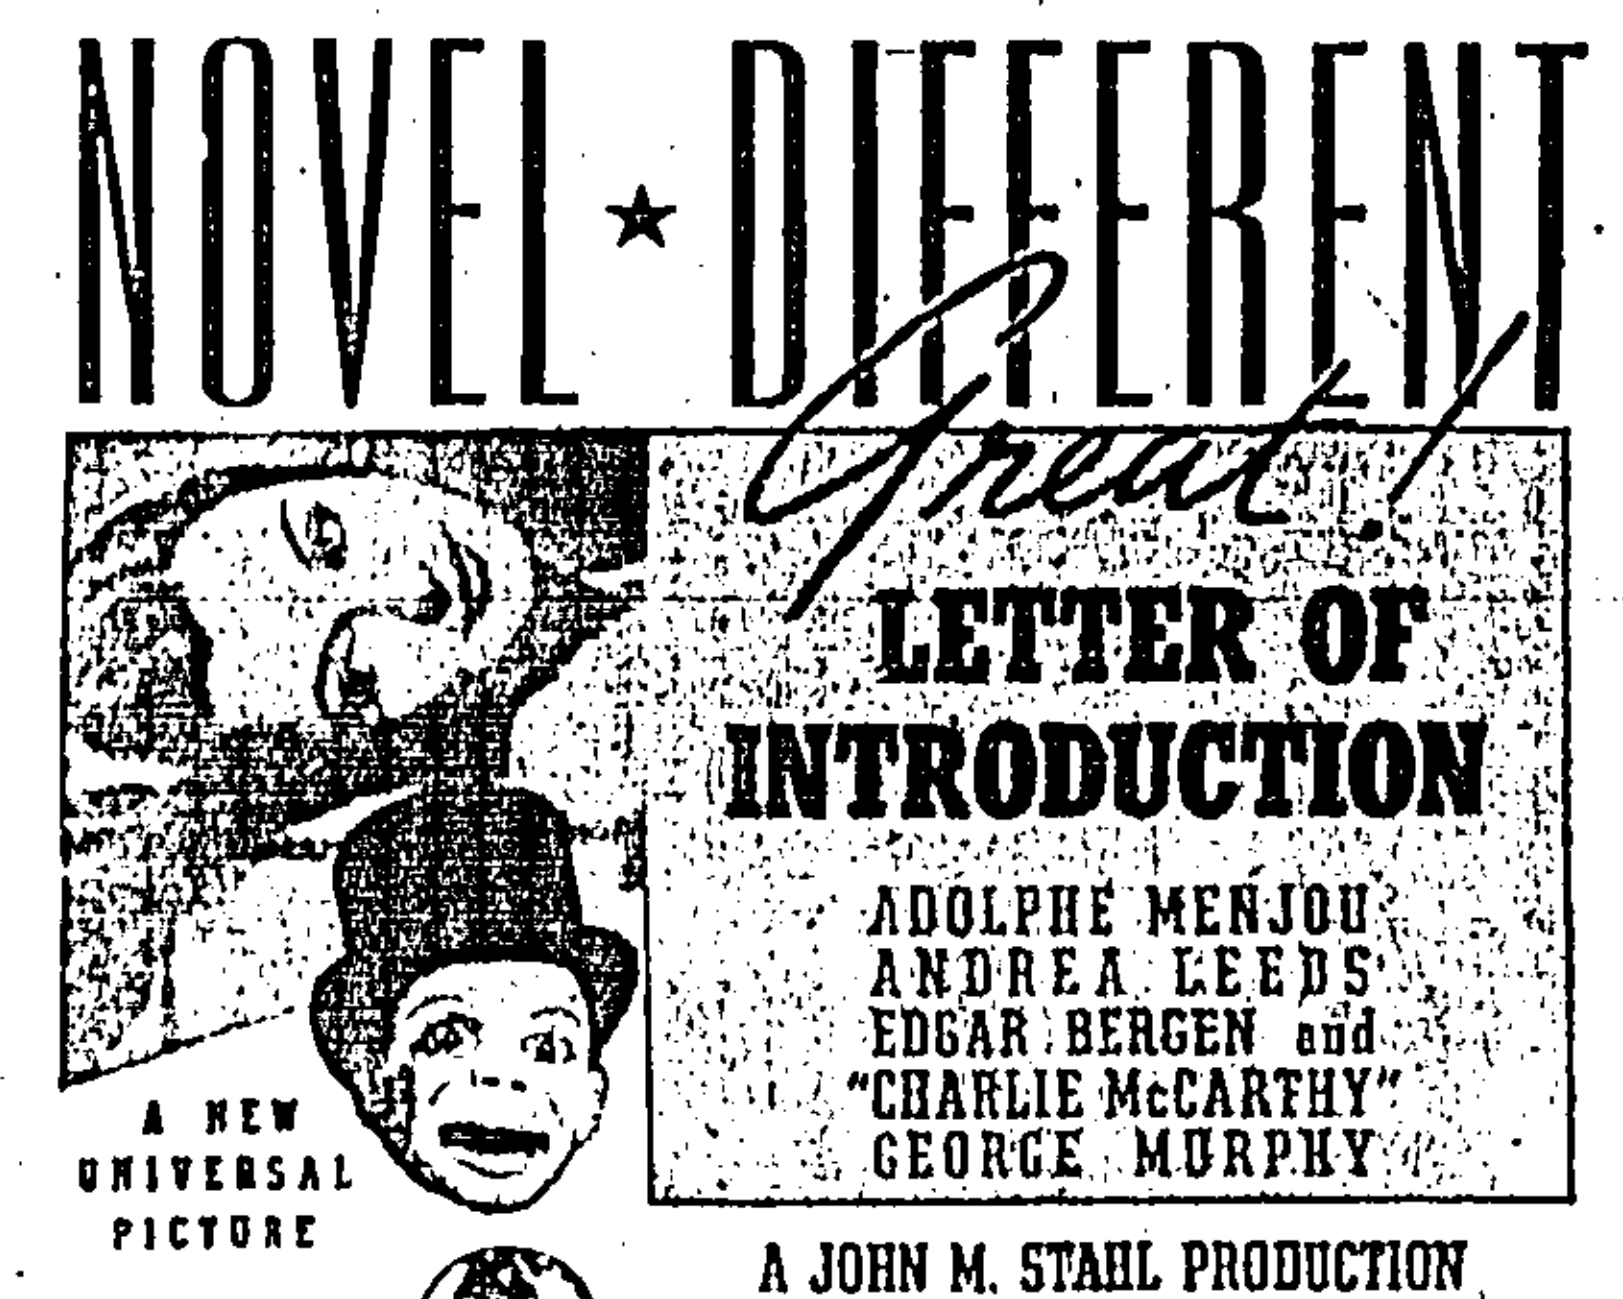

British and American authorities are anxious to co-operate with the Japanese to arrange evacuation but this may prove a difficult task as among the 200 residents are many elderly folk and invalids who would probably refuse—Reuter.
